15TH YEAR. NO. 228

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1900.

TWO CENTS

EVEN KRUGER FAILED

Couldn't Stem Retreat of the Free Staters.

BOERS MADE PEACE PROPOSAL.

Such a Rumor in London, Believed to Be Correct—Terms Which Might Have Averted War, Impossible Now—French Still After Retreating Burghers.

POPLAR GROVE, March 9.—President Kruger, who at present is far in the rear, tried to stop the retreating Boers, who refused to stay.

The Bloemfontein police tried to stop the retreat of the Free Staters, but they declared that they were not willing to fight any longer, and they blamed President Steyn.

LONDON, March 9.—The Boers appear to have made no stand whatever, except that, while in retreat, they twice repulsed General French's cavalry with rifle fire. As no report has been made of the capture of prisoners, the enemy probably got away with their entire force. General French is still following them and keeping between them and Bloemfontein.

The evacuation of the northern districts of Cape Colony is now nearly complete. The British are in possession of the railroad crossings.

The military critics comment on the discouraging news from Mafeking. Colonel Baden-Powell seems to be in grave need of outside help. Otherwise he would not allow the correspondents to send out information respecting the distress of the garrison.

A readjustment of some of the higher commands is taking place. General White is to go to Stormberg to take supreme command of General Gatacre's division and the Tenth division, now in process of formation, which will be under the immediate command of General Hunter, Sir George White's chief of staff.

The Daily News makes the following editorial announcement:

"It was rumored in London yesterday, and we have some reason for believing the rumor to be correct—that the two republics made informal and unofficial overtures of peace on the preceding day.

"Unfortunately the conditions suggested were of such a character as to preclude the possibility of leading to any result. Terms which might have been gladly accepted before the war, in order to avert it, are impossible after the war, with all the sacrifices it has entailed."

KRUGER'S RECENT VISIT.

Said to Have Been to Compromise Differences Between Transvaalers and Free Staters.

PRETORIA, March 9.—It is understood that President Kruger's visit to Bloemfontein was to try to arrange a compromise of the differences between the Transvaalers and Free Staters.

Secretary of State Reitz issued war bulletins, in which, after saying the government has no official tidings of the surrender of General Cronje, but must accept it as a fact, however painful, he added:

The government remains assured that the surrender will not discourage the burghers in the defense of their independence and standing as a nation. The struggle thus far has shown the republics have vindicated themselves as an independent people. This reverse will not stagger us. In the struggle for our cherished rights our belief remains that whatever happens the Lord still reigns.

Owing to the invasion of the Free State by a large force of the enemy, and other circumstances, it became necessary to take up other positions, hence the Burghers in Natal have retired to Biggarsberg. All the commandos have reached there safely, except a few, who retired in the direction of Van Reenen's pass. Thus Ladysmith and Kimberley are no more besieged. In retiring, the enemy was time and time after driven back, so that our laagers were not cut off. In these fights a few men were killed or wounded and the enemy lost heavily.

In spite of all reports, the spirit of the fighters to the outcome remains unchanged. Among the commandos in Natal the Burghers are full of courage.

General Dewet now commands all the commandos at the Modder river.

The president started yesterday evening for Bloemfontein to visit the laager of the Free State.

JOUBERT A MAJOR GENERAL.

Other Appointments Also Made at Boer Council of War.

BOER CAMP, BIGGERSBERG, March 9.—At a general council of war, Louis Botha was appointed lieutenant general for Natal and Lukas Meyer, Schalkburger, David Joubert, Daniel Erasmus and J. Fourie were appointed major generals.

The selections gave lively satisfaction to the Burghers.

OBSEQUES OF HENNESSY.

Simple Ceremonies Occurred Over the Remains of the Archbishop at the Cathedral, In Dubuque.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, March 9.—The obsequies of John Hennessey, first archbishop of Dubuque, occurred here and were of the simplest character. There were no flowers or ornaments, even the high altar being stripped of everything not necessary to the celebration of mass. There was also an entire absence of music, only the voices of hundreds of priests being heard in the Gregorian chant, all this being in accord with the dead prelate's wish.

Cardinal Gibbons and each of the archbishops celebrated requiem mass. For about two hours all the church bells in the city were tolled. Courts adjourned and many manufacturing institutions and business houses were closed.

The cathedral was crowded and hundreds stood outside during the service. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, pronounced the eulogy. Interment took place immediately after the mass, the casket containing the body being placed in the vault and sealed.

MAY BE SHORT OVER $25,000.

Bigelow Finds More Padding on the Part of Paisley at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURG, March 9.—Alarming discoveries were made yesterday by Director Bigelow in his investigation of the records of S. T. Paisley, late superintendent of the bureau of highways and sewers.

Instead of six or eight fictitious names having been used, meaning a possible loss of $5,000 or $6,000 to the city, it has been ascertained that 150 names padded the payrolls at different times, which may mean that the city has paid out irregularly from $25,000 to $35,000.

AN EIGHT-CLUB LEAGUE.

Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland and Louisville to Be Bought Out.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The National League finally succeeded, after three months of an effort on the part of its circuit committee, in reducing its baseball circuit to eight clubs.

It was learned that the prices to be paid the retiring clubs for dropping out are as follows: Baltimore gets $30,000 for its franchise, the club to dispose of its players to the best advantage; Washington is to be paid $39,000 for its players and franchise; Cleveland is to get $15,000 and Louisville $10,000.

Assailed a British Consulate.

BORDEAUX, March 9.—A number of students and others issuing from a pro-Boer meeting marched to the British consulate, battered down the door, shattered the windows with stones, and then proceeded to the consul's private residence, where they indulged in a similar demonstration. The police dispersed the mob and arrested several of the rioters.

DOCTRINE OF CALHOUN

Again to the Front, Says the Administration.

POWER OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Republican Party Fighting Principle In Porto Rico Tariff Question—Bill Gives Islanders Some Relief, as Would Free Trade—President and Congress Agreed.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—A member of the cabinet gave out an authoritative statement, which said in part:

The president, in his annual message of December, urged that the customs duties on trade between Porto Rico and the United States be removed.

What the president proposed was that the United States should offer the largest and most generous measure of help to the distressed and suffering island, and he has never wavered a single instant in the object he sought. But when the time came for action in congress two tendencies were seen. On the one hand there were good men and some business and agricultural interests that, while not objecting or little objecting to free trade with Porto Rico alone, feared that free trade with Porto Rico would be made a precedent for free trade with the Philippines. They felt that there should be a distinct association and express power to impose duties, however small, as an assurance that this power was reserved for other cases.

On the other hand, what the president proposed as a worthy act of national generosity and liberal policy, was seized by political opponents and claimed as a necessary and inevitable measure of inherent constitutional right. They insisted that the constitution by its own force extends to Porto Rico and all the new island possessions and spreads all its provisions over them, including uniform taxation. They were eager to commit a Republican congress to the adoption of free trade with Porto Rico, not as a measure of generous expediency, but because they could then claim that it had riveted a hard and fast principle which would tie the hands of the government everywhere in the Philippines as well as in Porto Rico, without regard to varying conditions, and which would expose the administration and its party to all the criticisms and attacks that would be made on such a position.

It was a cunning game, but it did not succeed. The apprehension of the honest objectors, who feared that the concession of full free trade to Porto Rico would lead to misconstruction, and the designs of the crafty partisans who meant that it should, were both met and frustrated by the bill which passed the house and which levies 15 per cent, or less than one-sixth of the Dingley rates. That low rate involves no possible hardship. It has the advantage of producing needed revenue, which, until civil government and law are fully organized in Porto Rico, cannot be raised as well from any other source.

There was another point which was not generally understood. The bill provides that the whole amount of duties on goods coming from Porto Rico should be paid back to Porto Rico for the benefit of the island. Thus it fully harmonizes with the object at which the president aimed, of relieving the trade of Porto Rico from burdensome restrictions and of extending the largest degree of help; and when it was crowned by the president's special message, promptly carried out by the house, providing not only that the duties hereafter collected, but that those heretofore collected, to the amount of $2,000,000, should be appropriated, to be expended wholly in Porto Rico for her development and improvement absolutely, no ground was left for any pretense that the policy of the president and congress was in the slightest degree harsh and oppressive.

Nobody can understandingly object to the 15 per cent duty, all paid back to Porto Rico on the ground that it is unfair and hard towards Porto Rico. He can understandingly object only on the claim that there is no power to levy any duty at all, and such a claim would leave the president and congress powerless and helpless in the Philippines, as well as in Porto Rico.

Congress was aiming at the same result as the president, and the president rightfully accepts the act of congress. The representation that either was not in accord with the other disregards every essential element in the case.

The country is starting out on a new departure and on a new experiment, and it is of the highest importance, for our own safety as well as for the welfare of the new peoples who have come under the flag, that we should leave ourselves free to deal with each case as its own merits demand. The claim which insists that free trade goes by legal right to Porto Rico would bind us hand and foot.

The partisans who have sought to put the president and congress in a hole, have, perhaps unconsciously, dug a pit for themselves. They will find that they have taken a position which would stop them from carrying out the policy they have proposed for the disposition of the Philippines.

It is enough for the present to say that our contention that the constitution does not by its own force extend over the new possessions without legislative act is in harmony with the general tenor of judicial decision and legislative action from the acquisition of Louisiana down to this time.

The Republican party had its birth in an issue very like that which is now presented. The Calhoun doctrine was that the constitution by its own force carried slavery into the territories of the United States. The Republican party sprang into being from the uprising of the public conscience against that doctrine.

One of the reasons of the Chicago platform of 1860, on which Abraham Lincoln was elected president, was in these words: "That the dogma that the constitution of its own force carried slavery into any or all of the territories of the United States is a dangerous political heresy, at variance with the explicit provisions of that instrument itself, with contemporaneous exposition and with legislative and judicial precedent. Is revolutionary in its tendency and subversive of the peace and harmony of the country."

The political heir of those who put forward the dogma that the constitution of its own force carried slavery into the United States now maintain the dogma that the constitution of its own force carries free trade even into the new island territory of the United States without any legislative action. It is an interesting circumstance that in this new epoch of our history the Republican party is again battling for a principle kindred to that which gave it birth.

DYNAMITING OF CONCENTRATOR.

Sovereign Reiterated the Story Under Cross-Examination.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—James R. Sovereign continued his testimony at the Courer d'Alene investigation before the house committee on military affairs.

Mr. Sovereign testified that the miners' union was not responsible for the publication written by him, which had been introduced as evidence.

The cross-examination took Mr. Sovereign over the exciting events attending the blowing up of the Bunker Hill concentrator, and the witness was made to recite, in minute detail, the circumstances of the affair, the explosions, shooting, etc. In the main, this was an elaboration of the direct testimony previously given. He said the masks worn by the men were of ordinary cloth, holes being cut out for the eyes.

TWENTY-EIGHT

STILL IN THE MINE.

Inquest Over the Dead of the West Virginia Disaster to Commence Today.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 9.—Three more dead bodies were taken from the Red Ash mine, near Fire Creek. They are Charles Downey, white; Walter Dennis and Peter Cappell, colored—making the total number of dead recovered 21. Four new names have been added to the list of those already known to be in the mine—John Clair, Fred Arnold, William Massie and Moses Daniels. The bodies of those found in the mine are badly scorched, especially the parts not protected by clothing. The skin is burnt to a crisp, but the features are recognizable and show no distortion. The bodies are somewhat bruised, as if blown or hurled some distance, but are not mangled. The mine is very hot, and this makes progress slow.

Twenty-eight is the number known to be still in the mine. It had been reported that a second explosion had occurred, but this was denied by State Mine Inspector Paul.

The work has progressed 4,000 feet into the mine. Inspector Paul was in Charleston, in conference with Governor Atkinson, relative to the manner of holding an inquest over the bodies of the victims of the mine disaster. It was decided to hold a general inquest today, in conjunction with the coroner, and if the result of it is not satisfactory a special inquest will be held by the governor.

MAFEKING IN SAD STRAITS.

Death, Disease, Hunger and Shells Among the Besieged.

MAFEKING, March 9.—What may be typhoid malaria has broken out in the women's laager and dysentery, due to the absence of vegetables, is rife among the garrison. We are thrown upon our own resources. Such luxuries as we had are exhausted or have been commandeered for the hospitals, which are filled to overflowing. The children's graveyard, close to the women's laager, grows weekly as the young lives are cut short prematurely by shell and fever. We look with hope deferred for relief.

From their advanced posts the Boers rake the streets and the market square. It is impossible to dodge their bullets.

Two hundred and ninety-two persons have been killed, wounded or died of disease. The garrison is so small that it would be criminal to make its weakness public.

Actress Perished in Burning Theatre.

PARIS, March 9.—The Comedie Francaise was gutted by fire. Mademoiselle Hennot, an actress, perished in the flames. Another woman, a dresser, was badly burned. There were some brave rescues.

RIOT DUE TO STRIKE

A Number Injured in Fracas in Chicago.

ONE MAN LIKELY FATALLY HURT.

Strikers Threatened to Kill Employees of a Belt Company and Struck One in the Head—He Shot One of the Unionists During the Melee.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Labor troubles culminated in a riot at Thirty-sixth and Wallace streets. One man was shot and probably fatally wounded and six others were wounded, one of them severely. The injured persons are:

William Schindler, shot in the breast and seriously wounded by Joseph Walsh; will die.

Joseph Walsh, foreman for the Link Belt Machinery company, nose broken and severely bruised.

H. K. McLain, superintendent of same company, beaten about head and body; not serious.

James Coffey, machinist, bruised about body; not serious.

Samuel Bonstra, machinist, bruised about body; not serious.

Peter Speck, machinist, beaten about head; not serious.

Nicholas Debar, beaten about face; not serious.

It is believed that other persons were hurt in the fight, but they escaped before the police arrived and their names were not learned. Previously the strikers have followed Walsh and McLain every night when they left the shop, and have threatened to kill them. Somebody threw a club at Walsh, striking him in the back of the head. He accused Schindler and, when the latter denied it, a fight occurred.

FUNNY MEN.

The jests of Heliogabulus were very practical. He was fond of inviting people with some physical deformity to dinner and making jokes about them. At times he would invite a dozen hunchbacks or a score of squinting ladies or an equal number of baldheads. Once he put a large number of excessively fat people, all very hungry, into a small chamber where dinner was waiting. There was no room to eat it. Another diversion of which he was fond was that of placing his guests on air sofas, so that when they were about to drink he could let the air out and have both sofa and guest collapse.

It is said that Nero, the Roman emperor, liked to "shy" nuts at the bald heads of the pretors who sat below during the performance at the theater, and they were expected to maintain their baldheaded dignity and refrain from "shying" them back at him.

I have been acquainted with C. C. Further, I know him to be a man OF THE PEOPLE; a man who will pay thorough attention to the wants and needs of the common people, the great mass of our grand citizenship, the mechanics and toilers of the nation.

I KNOW him as a citizen beyond reproach—a man of clean and pure life.

I KNEW him as a gallant soldier and a true comrade; a soldier who faced the foe in the hour of emergency and did full duty wherever assigned.

GRIM IS STILL MINUS

The Salary He Thinks the City and Mayor Owe Him.

JURY DIDN'T SEE IT HIS WAY

And Finally Disagreed But Only Two of the Jurymen Were For Grim While the Other Four Thought He Wasn't Entitled to Any Compensation.

The case of D. Arthur Grim against the city, Mayor Bough and his bonds-men, for salary which he thinks he ought to have for the time he was suspended, was heard yesterday afternoon in the court of Squire Rose, and if Grim gets any money he will have to have the case tried again as the jury disagreed in regard to his claim. The case did not attract a great deal of attention.

After a motion of Solicitor McGarry had been overruled by the squire the attorneys made their statements to the jury. Clark spent his time in reviewing the case but McGarry opened his address by stating "that this was an old score and one that should not have arisen in a respectable community and one that would not have arisen where men had a spark of manhood in them and did not seek to fill offices for which they were not wanted." He then reviewed the case.

Grim was the first witness and he testified as to the fact that he was a police officer and had been appointed in January, '98 by A. V. Gilbert. He said he was suspended May 24 and was reinstated July 11. He told of some conversations he had with the mayor and said he had reported for duty every day after he was reinstated and wore his uniform. He also remarked that he had made at least half a dozen arrests July 11 and Aug. 28.

He stated that the mayor had told him that he didn't think he was favorable to his administration and he could generally judge a man by the company he kept.

On cross-examination, the witness stated that he had received his appointment under Mayor Gilbert and had later been appointed under Mayor Bough, but had never received a second appointment under Bough and had simply held over.

"You wouldn't resign, would you, when you knew you wasn't wanted?" asked McGarry.

"I was wanted by a majority of the good citizens," answered Grim.

"You don't know much about good citizens, then, do you?" responded McGarry, and after Grim had made a few remarks and was called down by the squire, the case proceeded.

In response to a question from Clark, Grim said he was a Republican.

Chief Johnson came next and he testified in regard to the dates and the fact that Grim had reported every day for duty. Clerk Hanley also testified in regard to dates and the case for the plaintiff closed.

Mayor Bough was the first witness for the defense and he testified that he appointed Grim once, but did not reappoint him. He said he stated to council his reasons for not appointing Grim, but had never given them to the newspapers. He said Grim's dignity seemed to be very much offended, and the whole cause seemed to be that he had been compared with John Wan as a drinking man. He said he was a Prohibitionist, but he had never taken that into consideration in his appointment of police officers, and thought he had never sent but two Prohibitionists' names to council for confirmation.

On cross-examination the mayor stated that he had nothing against Grim except the charges, and thought if he had been Grim he would have gracefully submitted to an investigation without making a fool out of himself like Grim did on several occasions in his presence. The mayor then told of the suspensions, and the case was ended as far as the testimony was concerned.

The arguments lasted until 9 o'clock when the jury, consisting of W. H. Gass, G. M. Adam, Thomas Pickall, John Kerr, Sr., Matthew Anderson and S. J. Martin got the case. They remained out until 10:30 o'clock when they returned with the information that they had failed to agree.

It's a cold day when a French play isn't hot enough to burn down a theater.

A PETITION alleged to contain the names of 2,300 Zanesville citizens against the Clark local option bill was found to be 1,000 names shy and many of those actually signed were duplicated. The rounders evidently visited every saloon in town and signed each time.

CAMPBELL ON M'KINLEY.
Ex-Governor James E. Campbell, speaking on expansion, declared himself unmistakably in favor of it. He concluded: "I don't belong to the president's party, but I know him and want to give him a chance. Any man who can beat me for governor of Ohio 92,000 votes has got to be a mighty good man." And that's just what the people of Ohio and the United States consider William McKinley to be.

RECOMMENDATION!
Yea, verily, 'tis a warm and much-to-be-desired recommendation on the part of a true and staunch Republican to be maligned and abused and villified in a Democratic newspaper. 'Tis a sure indication that the Republican scored a true Republican, a man working strongly and intelligently against Democratic policy and Democratic rule. Mark this in the lining of your hat.

SUSPENSION!

He worked for John Smith and failed in his duties. John suspended him for a month. He accepted the suspension in an easy manner, redolent of cheek and an article known as "brass," reported every day during the month, lounged around and took it easy, and then presented a bill for a full month's work, as usual, was called down to the queen's taste by Honest John, and then had the nerve to attempt to collect by law. "What shall the harvest be?"

KRUGER APPEALS

Reported to Have Approached
Premier Salisbury

FOR CESSION OF HOSTILITIES

And the Restoration of Conditions Before the War—Terms Considered Unsatisfactory, and It Is Understood They Were Rejected by England.

LONDON, March 9—[Special]
It is announced that President Kruger has appealed to Premier Salisbury for a cessation of hostilities in South Africa but that the terms were unsatisfactory to England and it is understood they were rejected.

The terms were the resumption of the status quo ante, the franchise question to be submitted to arbitration. This would mean that both the South African republic and the republic of the Orange Free State should remain as they were prior to the war. In the event of the actual refusal of England, President Kruger will appeal to Europe for arbitration.

HOUSE SEATED ALDRICH.

Vote Taken on Alabama Contested Election Case—Row Between Mahon and Talbert.

WASHINGTON. March 9.—The house unseated Gaston A. Robbins, a Democrat from the Fourth Alabama district, and seated in his stead William F. Aldrich, a Republican, who has been three times a contestant from the same district, on the ground of fraud, and who is now given his seat for the third time by a Republican house. The vote was a strict party one. This case out of the way a new rule was brought in to set aside the day sessions on the second and fourth Fridays of each month for pension legislation.

The rule limited debate on each bill to 10 minutes on a side, but this provision was withdrawn upon the assurance of Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, that his side of the house would not indulge in filibustering. During the debate on the rule there was quite a lively row between Mr. Mahon, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Talbert, of South Carolina. Before adjourning the house took up the contested election case of Wise vs. Young, from the Second Virginia district, Mr. Weeks (Mich.) giving notice that he would ask a vote on it at 3 o'clock Monday.

A SMALL TARIFF, NO DIRECT TAX.

Foraker's Plan For Porto Rico—Defends Bill—Court to Decide Important Question.

WASHINGTON. March 9.—Formal discussion of the Porto Rican tariff and civil government bill began in the senate, the principal speakers being Mr. Foraker (Rep., O.), in charge of the measure, and Mr. Pettus (Dem., Ala.), but at various times during the debate lively colloquies occurred, in which other senators were participants.

After Mr. Mason (Ills.) had entered his motion to discharge the committee on foreign relations from further consideration of his resolution expressing sympathy for the Boers, and it had gone over until today, under the rule, Mr. Pettus delivered a carefully prepared speech in opposition to the pending bill. He argued that it was unconstitutional and in violation of the principles of this government as laid down by the fathers of the country.

Mr. Foraker occupied the floor during the remainder of the session. He explained the measure in detail and gave the reasons why the committee had determined upon the levying of a tariff upon Porto Rican products. In his opinion it was impossible for a direct tax to be levied upon the people of the island to support a local government, because of their present destitute condition. The committee, he said, had conceived the idea of placing a small tariff on Porto Rican products in order to raise a sum sufficient, with the sum otherwise raised, to give the people of the island not only a good government, but also to build school houses and to make necessary public improvements. Then, too, it was necessary that the question of extension of the constitution over our insular possessions should be determined by the supreme court and by the very provisions of the bill, it would be inevitable that the supreme court should pass upon that question. Porto Rico and the Philippines, he said, were on the same basis, so that the court decision would determine our right to levy a tariff on products of the eastern archipelago.

A GIGANTIC OIL DEAL.

London Branch of the Standard Trust Buys Vast Interests In Ohio. Consideration, $10,000,000.

TOLEDO. March 9.—The English petroleum syndicate of London, the foreign branch of the Standard Oil company, is reliably reported to have closed a gigantic deal in the Ohio oil field. The company absorbs the Cudahy combination of Chicago and the Manhattan Oil company.

The consideration is said to be $10,000,000.

NEW BISHOP OF COLUMBUS.

Reported That Father Moeller Has Been Selected.

CINCINNATI. March 9.—Unofficial advices from Rome announce the selection of Henry Moeller, secretary and chancellor of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, as bishop of Columbus. The papal approval is expected within a few days. Father Moeller has received no notification from Rome and refuses to say anything on the matter whatever.

Convicted of Embracy.

PHILADELPHIA. March 9.—Henry J.

Fairbanks, of this city, was convicted in the United States district court of the charge of attempted embracy in connection with the trial of Attorneys Ellery P. Ingham and Harvey K. Newitt. His counsel moved for a new trial and, pending argument, Judge McPherson refused bail. Thomas O'Dea, who was arrested with Fairbanks on a similar charge, was surrendered by his bondsmen. He will probably not be tried until the next term of court.

Doubt as to Money Market Being Pinched Before Currency Law Went Into Effect.

NEW YORK. March 9.—The market was practically relieved Thursday of all disturbing factors in the way of acute weakness of special stocks. Reports all continued favorable regarding the outlook for values, but the demand for stocks was almost unappreciable. Even the small buying for investment, based on large earnings for railroads which has been in evidence for some time past, dropped out of sight. Speculators are restraining entirely from commitments for the advance. On the other hand the bear operators of any considerable caliber seemed to become discouraged by the futility of their efforts and the culmination of events counted upon for a reaction.

The iron and steel stocks were generally firm on the encouraging opinions expressed by anti cities in the trade. The published report of a proposed increase in the next dividend on the preferred stock of Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis was met by a drop in that stock of $3\frac{1}{2}$ points. There was continued doubt and apprehension over the capacity of the money market to get through without a pinch to the period of relief by the operation of the currency bill. The possibility was canvassed of action by the treasury department to resume the deposit of internal revenue collections with the banks, but no authoritative sanction was given for such possibility. The absorption of funds by the New York sub-treasury since last Friday had already reached \$5,621,090 up to the close of business Wednesday night. The total revenue surplus taken up by the government since the first of the month up to the same date amounted to only \$2,066,245. The special drain thus indicated upon the New York banks is due to the large customs payments by importers. Imports at present are running very high as an incident of the active demand for commodities, and the payment of the duties is diverted from the New York banks into the sub-treasury.

The demand for loans for purchase of government bonds continues large. These two factors threaten the early obliteration of surplus reserves of the New York banks.

The bond market was not so active as Wednesday, but prices were firmly held. Total sales, par value, $1,590,000.

United States 3's declined $\frac{1}{4}$ and the new 4's $\frac{1}{2}$ in the bid price.

Chicago Grain Market.

CHICAGO. March 9.—Under the inspiration of cash wheat strength at Liverpool and New York, wheat futures on the board of trade Thursday were active and strong, May closing $3\frac{1}{4}$ over Wednesday. May corn closed $1\frac{1}{4}$ over, helped by a good cash demand and May oats a shade higher. The provisions market closed strong, May pork $17\frac{1}{2}$ @ 20c, May lard 5@ $7\frac{1}{2}$ c and May ribs $7\frac{1}{2}$ @ 10c improved.

EVENTS BRIEFLY NARRATED

The Fifth cavalry, which has been in Porto Rico since the Spanish war, has been ordered home next week.

The directors of the St. Louis Transit company have promised to give an answer today to the demands of their dissatisfied employes.

The convention of the Amalgamated Woodworkers of America, in session at Grand Rapids, decided not to admit upholsters, varnishers and gilders.

Letters of administration on the estate of General Lawton were issued to the widow at Washington. The personal estate consists only of $1,000 back pay.

Chief of Police Ross and six other Democrats of Lexington, Ky., were arrested and released on bail, on charges of intimidating voters at the November election.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

NORRISTOWN, Pa. March 9.—Philip Kuntz was convicted of manslaughter in causing the death of Pierce W. Cope. During a fight Kuntz struck Cope on the head with a sledgehammer, the injury causing death. Motion was made for a new trial.

Phelps Slowly Sinking.

NEW HAVEN. March 9.—Ex-Minister Phelps was very weak and was gradually though not rapidly failing. The physicians held out no hope whatever for recovery.

Mausers and Lee-Enfields.

The chief distinction between the Mauser and the Lee-Enfield is this—that while the Lee-Enfield has a magazine which is inserted underneath the body through the trigger guard and secured by a catch and is provided with what is called a "cut off" to prevent the cartridges from rising so that it can be used as a simple breechloader for single firing until the magazine, which contains ten cartridges, is ordered to be used, the Mauser has a magazine which, though not absolutely fixed, is only intended to be taken off for cleaning. It does not need a "cut off" to use as a single loader.

The magazine contains five cartridges, but whereas the cartridges for the Lee-Enfield have, when the magazine is charged, to be each put in separately, the magazine of the Mauser is filled at once by placing against the face of the magazine a set of five cartridges held in a clip which falls off when the cartridges have been inserted in the magazine.

Thus if each weapon were at the beginning of a fight empty, the Mauser would permit of more rapid fire because it could be loaded five cartridges at a time, while the Lee-Enfield would take a cartridge by cartridge, as long to load as a single breechloader. On the other hand, the times when a very rapid discharge of fire is desirable are not numerous, and for these the Lee-Enfield has ten cartridges ready against the Mauser's five.—Nineteenth Century.

Key, Kee, Kay.

Professor Skeat wishes to know when the pronunciation of key as kee can first be clearly detected. It occurs in Milton, "Comus," line 13:

To lay their just hands on that golden key
That opes the palace of eternity.

And a little later in Marvell's "Feleno":

Now as two instruments to the same key
Being tuned by art, if one the touched be,
The other opposite as soon replies.

These instances are curious, for both before and after this time the prevailing pronunciation was evidently kay. Herbert rhymes the word with way. In "The Secrets of Angling" (1613) culverkeys is rhymed with rays. In Withers' "Mistress of Philaret" (1622), key with day. Dryden, too, and Swift have the same pronunciation, and not till I come to Green's "Spleen" (1737) do I, after an hour's search, find the other. There pleas rhymes with keys. This pronunciation must, however, have become common soon afterward.

In Duncombe's "Imitation of Gray's Elegy" it is rhymed with me, and Garrick rhymes it with flea, which would, I suppose, be pronounced then as it is now. Nares, in his "Elements of Orthoepy" (1764), says of the diphthong ey, "Its proper sound should be that of the long e. This, however, is given to it only in the word key, for ley—a field—is constantly written lea."—Notes and Queries.

More Sociable.

A lady who has recently returned from abroad had a curious experience at the little town of Dinant, in Belgium. She was traveling in a party of three, including another lady and a young man. They sought accommodation at a hotel and were shown a room in which there were three beds and on a deal table three basins and jugs about as big as slop basins and milk jugs.

The ladies explained that one room was quite insufficient for their needs, but it was a long time before they could get the hostess to understand why. They were then shown another room with three beds, three slop basins and three milk jugs and were told that they could have that, too, if they liked to pay for the six beds. It was therefore arranged that the man should have one room and three beds and the ladies the other room and three beds.

"Do you always sleep in threes?" said one lady to the hostess.

"Yes," was the reply: "it is much more sociable."—Madame.

Doubled Him Up.

A prominent western clergyman, W. W. White by name, was a member of a learned society in which there were several members who were fond of quibbling. During a speech he had been annoyed by their interruptions almost beyond the point of endurance. At last he said, "I trust I will not be troubled again until my speech is finished."

Before he could begin another sentence one of his chief tormenters arose and said, slowly and solemnly: "Oh, doctor double-u, double-u, double-u, we love to trouble you, trouble you, trouble you."

The doctor sat down.

EPIDEMIC OF TYPHOID MALARIA.

Funerals Said to Have Averaged Four a Day, at Braddock, Pa.

PITTSBURG, March 9.—Malarial typhoid is epidemic in Braddock and vicinity. Some ascribe the causes to garbage and filth in the gutters and streets, to the many unpaved alleys and by-paths of the town, to the germ disturbance from the digging up of the thoroughfares, to the flushing out of saloons and stores between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon, when the greatest number of pedestrians is out, and to the water, which has become impregnated with poisonous microbes from sewage, rubbish pools and old cisterns or wells.

Doctors are overworked, typhoid and other fever cases of malarial accompaniment are plentiful and funerals, largely of patients who have succumbed to typhoid or its complications, are averaging four a day.

QUEEN'S VISIT TO LONDON.

Crowds Paid Her Loyal Tribute Enroute to Buckingham.

LONDON, March 9.—The queen's arrival in London and the commencement of her visit to the metropolis were marked by scenes of enthusiasm unparalleled since the jubilee celebration. Throughout the demonstrations there predominated a note of triumph, and the cheers that made the murky streets ring were almost as much in honor of the British victories in South Africa as they were vociferous tributes of a loyal people to a monarch whose womanly sympathy has been so strikingly shown since the war began.

When the train from Windsor arrived a tremendous cheer went up. Her majesty came down the sloping platform leaning on the arm of a turbaned Indian attendant and entered an open landau, in which also sat Princess Henry of Battenberg and Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein. They all wore black, and around her neck the queen had a sable collar.

From the packed sidewalks and from every available window came a continuous roar of cheers, while hundreds of little flags were waved all the way to Buckingham palace.

Makeshift Wedding Rings.

Curious instances have been cited where makeshift substitutes for the conventional wedding ring have been utilized during the marriage ceremony. One such instance occurred some time ago in a nearby town, where the ring was missing. Nothing better being available as a substitute, a curtain ring was used, and on still another occasion the ring handle of the church key was utilized. A couple in this state used in such an emergency a ring formed from the outer edge of a coin and which had been carried by some one present as a curiosity.

A gallant best man came to the rescue at a recent wedding, when the ring was not forthcoming at the right time. He drew from his tie the slender stick pin that had been adorning it, and bending the wire into ring shape, handed the improvised wedding ring to the distracted groom.

A horseshoe nail bent to the shape of a ring is said to bring a great deal of luck to the owner, and the lead cramp ring worn six centuries ago has given place to various rings now worn to prevent and cure rheumatism.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The Polite Lie in Embryo.

A little child has given us a peep into the process by which the polite lie is developed. Mamma was talking to Effie about the absence of Edith from the children's party.

"You are sorry," said mamma, "that Edith could not come?"

Effie replied, having enjoyed herself. "Oh, I don't mind much."

To which mamma rejoined: "But Edith is ill. That is why she couldn't come. You must be sorry." Effie considered. "Yes; of course I'm sorry," she said, "but it doesn't hurt me—inside."—London Chronicle.

The Ruling Passion.

Wife (who has been out shopping all day)—Oh, dear, how tired and hungry I am!

Husband—Didn't you have any luncheon in town?

Wife—A plate of soup only. I didn't feel that I could afford to have more.

Husband—Did you find the hat you wanted?

Wife—Oh, yes. It is a perfect dream. John, and it only cost $28.—Collier's Weekly.

Too Much Time Wanted.

"If you will get my new suit done by Saturday," said a customer to a tailor.

"I'll be forever indebted to you."

"If that's your game," replied the tailor, "the clothes will not be done at all."—Ohio State Journal.

To Fly in Your Dreams.

There is a peculiarity about the flying dream that seems to be constant. Of all those whom I asked about the matter and who are conscious of the flying dream at all not one has ever known himself to make any high flights in his dreams. One always flies low, with a skimming manner, slightly, but only slightly, above the heads of pedestrians.

And one's critical attitude in a dream toward one's own performance is always interesting to note, both in regard to this particular class of dream and even more toward one of the other classes. It is an attitude that is well brought out in "Alice in Wonderland," where Alice is made to exclaim or to think while she is falling, "How brave they will all think it of me at home not to mind a great fall like this!"—Longman's.

Logical.

"What is a furrier, Tommy?" asked the teacher of a pupil in the juvenile class.

"A man who deals in furs," answered Tommy.

"That's right," said the teacher. "Now, Tommy, you may tell me what a currier is."

"A man who deals in currs," was the unexpected but logical reply.—Chicago News.

The Coldest Country.

The coldest inhabited country appears to be the province of Werchojansk, in oriental Siberia. A Russian savant passed one entire year in the inhospitable region and kept a daily record of the temperature, from which it appears that the daily mean of the entire year is 2.74 degrees below zero.

The first constitutional convention in Ohio contained as delegates five men who afterward were elected governor of the state and four who became United States senators.

UNION LABELS

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

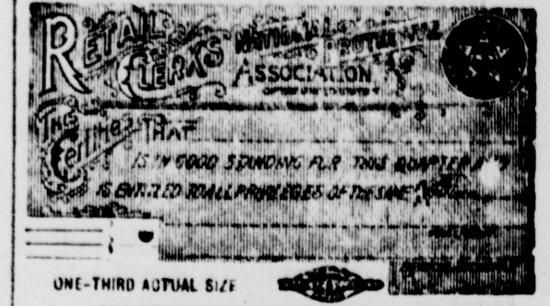

UNION PAPER.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

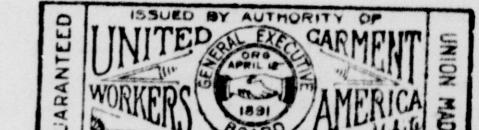

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

The Journeyman Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

15TH YEAR. NO. 228

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1900.

TWO CENTS

EVEN KRUGER FAILED

Couldn't Stem Retreat of the Free Staters.

BOERS MADE PEACE PROPOSAL.

Such a Rumor in London, Believed to Be Correct—Terms Which Might Have Averted War, Impossible Now—French Still After Retreating Burghers.

POPLAR GROVE, March 9.—President Kruger, who at present is far in the rear, tried to stop the retreating Boers, who refused to stay.

The Bloemfontein police tried to stop the retreat of the Free Staters, but they declared that they were not willing to fight any longer, and they blamed President Steyn.

LONDON, March 9.—The Boers appear to have made no stand whatever, except that, while in retreat, they twice repulsed General French's cavalry with rifle fire. As no report has been made of the capture of prisoners, the enemy accept it as a fact, however painful, he added:

The government remains assured that the surrender will not discourage the burghers in the defense of their independence and standing as a nation. The struggle thus far has shown the republics have vindicated themselves as an independent people. This reverse will not stagger us. In the struggle for our cherished rights our belief remains that whatever happens the Lord still reigns.

Owing to the invasion of the Free State by a large force of the enemy, and other circumstances, it became necessary to take up other positions, hence the Burghers in Natal have retired to Biggarsberg. All the commandos have reached there safely, except a few, who retired in the direction of Van Reenen's pass. Thus Ladysmith and Kimberley are no more besieged. In retiring, the enemy was time and time after time driven back, so that our laagers were not cut off. In these fights a few men were killed or wounded and the enemy lost heavily.

In spite of all reports, the spirit of the fighters to the outcome remains unchanged. Among the commandos in Natal the Burghers are full of courage.

General Dewet now commands all the commandos at the Modder river.

The president started yesterday evening for Bloemfontein to visit the laager of the Free State.

JOUBERT A MAJOR GENERAL.

Other Appointments Also Made at Boer Council of War.

BOER CAMP, BIGGERSBERG, March 9.—At a general council of war, Louis Botha was appointed lieutenant general for Natal and Lukas Meyer, Schalkburger, David Joubert, Daniel Erasmus and J. Fourie were appointed major generals.

The selections gave lively satisfaction to the Burghers.

OBSEQUIES OF HENNESSY.

Simple Ceremonies Occurred Over the Remains of the Archbishop at the Cathedral, In Dubuque.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, March 9.—The obsequies of John Hennessey, first archbishop of Dubuque, occurred here and were of the simplest character. There were no flowers or ornaments, even the high altar being stripped of everything not necessary to the celebration of mass. There was also an entire absence of music, only the voices of hundreds of priests being heard in the Gregorian chant, all this being in accord with the dead prelate's wish.

Cardinal Gibbons and each of the archbishops celebrated requiem mass. For about two hours all the church bells in the city were tolled. Courts adjourned and many manufacturing institutions and business houses were closed. The cathedral was crowded and hundreds stood outside during the service. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, pronounced the eulogy. Interment took place immediately after the mass, the casket containing the body being placed in the vault and sealed.

MAY BE SHORT OVER $25,000.

Bigelow Finds More Padding on the Part of Paisley at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, March 9.—Alarming discoveries were made yesterday by Director Bigelow in his investigation of the records of S. T. Paisley, late superintendent of the bureau of highways and sewers.

Instead of six or eight fictitious names having been used, meaning a possible loss of $5,000 or $6,000 to the city, it has been ascertained that 150 names padded the payrolls at different times, which may mean that the city has paid out irregularly from $25,000 to $35,000.

AN EIGHT-CLUB LEAGUE.

Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland and Louisville to Be Bought Out.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The National League finally succeeded, after three months of an effort on the part of its circuit committee, in reducing its baseball circuit to eight clubs.

It was learned that the prices to be paid the retiring clubs for dropping out are as follows: Baltimore gets $30,000 for its franchise, the club to dispose of its players to the best advantage; Washington is to be paid $39,000 for its players and franchise; Cleveland is to get $15,000 and Louisville $10,000.

Assailed a British Consulate.

BORDEAUX, March 9.—A number of students and others issuing from a pro-Boer meeting marched to the British consulate, battered down the door, shattered the windows with stones, and then proceeded to the consul's private residence, where they indulged in a similar demonstration. The police dispersed the mob and arrested several of the rioters.

POWER OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Republican Party Fighting Principle In Porto Rico Tariff Question—Bill Gives Islanders Some Relief, as Would Free Trade—President and Congress Agreed.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—A member of the cabinet gave out an authoritative statement, which said in part:

The president, in his annual message of December, urged that the customs duties on trade between Porto Rico and the United States be removed.

What the president proposed was that the United States should offer the largest and most generous measure of help to the distressed and suffering island, and he has never wavered a single instant in the object he sought. But when the time came for action in congress two tendencies were seen. On the one hand there were good men, and some business and agricultural interests that, while not objecting or little objecting to free trade with Porto Rico would be made a precedent for free trade with the Philippines. They felt that there should be a distinct association and express power to impose duties, however small, as an assurance that this power was reserved for other cases.

On the other hand, what the president proposed as a worthy act of national generosity and liberal policy, was seized by political opponents and claimed as a necessary and inevitable measure of inherent constitutional right. They insisted that the constitution by its own force extends to Porto Rico and all the new island possessions and spreads all its provisions over them, including uniform taxation. They were eager to commit a Republican congress to the adoption of free trade with Porto Rico, not as a measure of generous expediency, but because they could then claim that it had riveted a hard and fast principle which would tie the hands of the government everywhere, in the Philippines as well as in Porto Rico, without regard to varying conditions, and which would expose the administration and its party to all the criticisms and attacks that would be made on such a position.

It was a cunning game, but it did not succeed. The apprehension of the honest objectors, who feared that the concession of full free trade to Porto Rico would lead to misconstruction, and the designs of the crafty partisans who meant that it should, were both met and frustrated by the bill which passed the house and which levies 15 per cent, or less than one-sixth of the Dingley rates. That low rate involves no possible hardship. It has the advantage of producing needed revenue, which, until civil government and law are fully organized in Porto Rico, cannot be raised as well from any other source.

There was another point which was not generally understood.

The bill provides that the whole amount of duties on goods coming from Porto Rico should be paid back to Porto Rico for the benefit of the island.

Thus it fully harmonizes with the object at which the president aimed, of relieving the trade of Porto Rico from burdensome restrictions and of extending the largest degree of help; and when it was crowned by the president's special message, promptly carried out by the house, providing not only that the duties hereafter collected, but that those heretofore collected, to the amount of $2,000,000, should be appropriated, to be expended wholly in Porto Rico for her development and improvement absolutely, no ground was left for any pretense that the policy of the president and congress was in the slightest degree harsh and oppressive.

None can understandingly object to the 15 per cent duty, all paid back to Porto Rico on the ground that it is unfair and hard towards Porto Rico. He can understandingly object only on the claim that there is no power to levy any duty at all, and such a claim would leave the president and congress powerless and helpless in the Philippines, as well as in Porto Rico.

Congress was aiming at the same result as the president, and the president rightfully accepts the act of congress. The representation that either was not in accord with the other disregards every essential element in the case.

The country is starting out on a new departure and on a new experiment, and it is of the highest importance, for our own safety as well as for the welfare of the new peoples who have come under the flag, that we should leave ourselves free to deal with each case as its own merits demand. The claim which insists that free trade goes by legal right to Porto Rico would bind us hand and foot.

The partisans who have sought to put the president and congress in a hole, have, perhaps unconsciously, dug a pit for themselves. They will find that they have taken a position which would stop them from carrying out the policy they have proposed for the disposition of the Philippines.

It is enough for the present to say that our contention that the constitution does not by its own force extend over the new possessions without legislative act is in harmony with the general tenor of judicial decision and legislative action from the acquisition of Louisiana down to this time.

The Republican party had its birth in an issue very like that which is now presented. The Calhoun doctrine was that the constitution by its own force carried slavery into the territories of the United States. The Republican party sprang into being from the uprising of the public conscience against that doctrine.

One of the reasons of the Chicago platform of 1860, on which Abraham Lincoln was elected president, was in these words: "That the dogma that the constitution of its own force carried slavery into any or all of the territories of the United States is a dangerous political heresy, at variance with the explicit provisions of that instrument itself, with contemporaneous exposition and with legislative and judicial precedent. Is revolutionary in its tendency and subversive of the peace and harmony of the country."

The political heir of those who put forward the dogma that the constitution of its own force carried slavery into the United States now maintain the dogma that the constitution of its own force carries free trade even into the new island territory of the United States without any legislative action. It is an interesting circumstance that in this new epoch of our history the Republican party is again battling for a principle kindred to that which gave it birth.

DYNAMITING OF CONCENTRATOR.

Sovereign Reiterated the Story Under Cross-Examination.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—James R. Sovereign continued his testimony at the Courier d'Alene investigation before the house committee on military affairs.

Mr. Sovereign testified that the miners' union was not responsible for the publication written by him, which had been introduced as evidence.

The cross-examination took Mr. Sovereign over the exciting events attending the blowing up of the Bunker Hill concentrator, and the witness was made to relate, in minute detail, the circumstances of the affair, the explosions, shooting, etc. In the main, this was an elaboration of the direct testimony previously given. He said the masks worn by the men were of ordinary cloth, holes being cut out for the eyes.

TWENTY-EIGHT

STILL IN THE MINE.

Inquest Over the Dead of the West Virginia Disaster to Commence Today.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 9.—Three more dead bodies were taken from the Red Ash mine, near Fire Creek. They are Charles Downey, white; Walter Dennis and Peter Cappell, colored—making the total number of dead recovered 21. Four new names have been added to the list of those already known to be in the mine—John Clair, Fred Arnold, William Massie and Moses Daniels. The bodies of those found in the mine are badly scorched, especially the part not protected by clothing. The skin is burnt to a crisp, but the features are recognizable and show no distortion. The bodies are somewhat bruised, as if blown or hurled some distance, but are not mangled. The mine is very hot, and this makes progress slow.

Twenty-eight is the number known to be still in the mine. It had been reported that a second explosion had occurred, but this was denied by State Mine Inspector Paul.

The work has progressed 4,000 feet into the mine. Inspector Paul was in Charleston, in conference with Governor Atkinson, relative to the manner of holding an inquest over the bodies of the victims of the mine disaster. It was decided to hold a general inquest today, in conjunction with the coroner, and if the result of it is not satisfactory a special inquest will be held by the governor.

MAFEKING IN SAD STRAITS.

Death, Disease, Hunger and Shells Among the Besieged.

MAFEKING, March 9.—What may be typhoid malaria has broken out in the women's laager and dysentery, due to the absence of vegetables, is rife among the garrison. We are thrown upon our own resources. Such luxuries as we had are exhausted or have been commandeered for the hospitals, which are filled to overflowing. The children's graveyard, close to the women's laager, grows weekly as the young lives are cut short prematurely by shell and fever.

We look with hope deferred for relief. From their advanced posts the Boers rake the streets and the market square. It is impossible to dodge their bullets.

Two hundred and ninety-two persons have been killed, wounded or died of disease. The garrison is so small that it would be criminal to make its weakness public.

Actress Perished in Burning Theatre.

PARIS, March 9.—The Comedie Francaise was gutted by fire. Mademoiselle Hennot, an actress, perished in the flames. Another woman, a dresser, was badly burned. There were some brave rescues.

RIOT DUE TO STRIKE

A Number Injured in Fracas in Chicago.

ONE MAN LIKELY FATALLY HURT.

Strikers Threatened to Kill Employees of a Belt Company and Struck One in the Head—He Shot One of the Unionists During the Melee.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Labor troubles culminated in a riot at Thirty-sixth and Wallace streets. One man was shot and probably fatally wounded and six others were wounded, one of them severely. The injured persons are:

William Schindler, shot in the breast and seriously wounded by Joseph Walsh; will die.

Joseph Walsh, foreman for the Link Belt Machinery company, nose broken and severely bruised.

H. K. McLain, superintendent same company, beaten about head and body; not serious.

James Coffey, machinist, bruised about body; not serious.

Samuel Bonstra, machinist, bruised about body; not serious.

Peter Speck, machinist, beaten about head; not serious.

Nicholas Debar, beaten about face; not serious.

It is believed that other persons were hurt in the fight, but they escaped before the police arrived and their names were not learned. Previously the strikers have followed Walsh and McLain every night when they left the shop, and have threatened to kill them. Somebody threw a club at Walsh, striking him in the back of the head. He accused Schindler and, when the latter denied it, a fight occurred.

Funny Men. The jests of Heliogabulus were very practical. He was fond of inviting people with some physical deformity to dinner and making jokes about them. At times he would invite a dozen hunchbacks or a score of squinting ladies or an equal number of baldheads. Once he put a large number of excessively fat people, all very hungry, into a small chamber where dinner was waiting. There was no room to eat it. Another diversion of which he was fond was that of placing his guests on air sofas, so that when they were about to drink he could let the air out and have both sofa and guest collapse.

It is said that Nero, the Roman emperor, liked to "shy" nuts at the bald heads of the pretors who sat below during the performance at the theater, and they were expected to maintain their baldheaded dignity and refrain from "shying" them back at him.

I have been acquainted with C. C. Baker for many years, and know him to be a man all the way through, honest, honorable, intelligent, educated, brainy, conscientious and courageous—just such a man as we need in congress, able and fearless and fully competent to hold his own in argument, debate or statesmanship. Further, I know him to be a man of the people; a man who will pay thorough attention to the wants and needs of the common people, the great mass of our grand citizenship, the mechanics and toilers of the nation.

I know him as a citizen beyond reproach—a man of clean and pure life. I knew him as a gallant soldier and a true comrade; a soldier who faced the foe in the hour of emergency and did full duty wherever assigned.

I want the voters of Columbiana county to know my friend and comrade better than they do at the present time. I want them to grasp his hand and look him squarely in the face and eyes, and there make note of the fact that they are making the acquaintance of one of nature's noblemen—a man who loves his fellow men and who is willing to do battle royal for a common brotherhood; a man whom I hope will be the next congressman from the Eighteenth congressional district of the state of Ohio.

GRIM IS STILL MINUS

The Salary He Thinks the City and Mayor Owe Him.

JURY DIDN'T SEE IT HIS WAY

And Finally Disagreed But Only Two of the Jurymen Were For Grim While the Other Four Thought He Wasn't Entitled to Any Compensation.

The case of D. Arthur Grim against the city, Mayor Bough and his bonds-men, for salary which he thinks he ought to have for the time he was suspended, was heard yesterday afternoon in the court of Squire Rose, and if Grim gets any money he will have to have the case tried again as the jury disagreed in regard to his claim. The case did not attract a great deal of attention.

After a motion of Solicitor McGarry had been overruled by the squire the attorneys made their statements to the jury. Clark spent his time in reviewing the case but McGarry opened his address by stating "that this was an old score and one that should not have arisen in a respectable community and one that would not have arisen where men had a spark of manhood in them and did not seek to fill offices for which they were not wanted." He then reviewed the case.

Grim was the first witness and he testified as to the fact that he was a police officer and had been appointed in January, '98 by A. V. Gilbert. He said he was suspended May 24 and was reinstated July 11. He told of some conversations he had with the mayor and said he had reported for duty every day after he was reinstated and wore his uniform. He also remarked that he had made at least half a dozen arrests July 11 and Aug. 28.

He stated that the mayor had told him that he didn't think he was favorable to his administration and he could generally judge a man by the company he kept.

On cross-examination, the witness stated that he had received his appointment under Mayor Gilbert and had later been appointed under Mayor Bough, but had never received a second appointment under Bough and had simply held over.

"You wouldn't resign, would you, when you knew you wasn't wanted?" asked McGarry.

"I was wanted by a majority of the good citizens," answered Grim.

"You don't know much about good citizens, then, do you?" responded McGarry, and after Grim had made a few remarks and was called down by the squire, the case proceeded.

In response to a question from Clark, Grim said he was a Republican.

Chief Johnson came next and he testified in regard to the dates and the fact that Grim had reported every day for duty. Clerk Hanley also testified in regard to dates and the case for the plaintiff closed.

Mayor Bough was the first witness for the defense and he testified that he appointed Grim once, but did not reappoint him. He said he stated to council his reasons for not appointing Grim, but had never given them to the newspapers. He said Grim's dignity seemed to be very much offended, and the whole cause seemed to be that he had been compared with John Whan as a drinking man. He said he was a Prohibitionist, but he had never taken that into consideration in his appointment of police officers, and thought he had never sent but two Prohibitionists' names to council for confirmation.

On cross-examination the mayor stated that he had nothing against Grim except the charges, and thought if he had been Grim he would have gracefully submitted to an investigation without making a fool out of himself like Grim did on several occasions in his presence. The mayor then told of the suspensions, and the case was ended as far as the testimony was concerned.

The arguments lasted until 9 o'clock when the jury, consisting of W. H. Gass, G. M. Adam, Thomas Pickall, John Kerr, Sr., Matthew Anderson and S. J. Martin got the case. They remained out until 10:30 o'clock when they returned with the information that they had failed to agree.

The jury stood four to two-four for the city and two for Grim. The two were G. M. Adam and W. H. Gass. Two ballots were taken.

It's a cold day when a French play isn't hot enough to burn down a theater.

A PETITION alleged to contain the names of 2,300 Zanesville citizens against the Clark local option bill was found to be 1,000 names shy and many of those actually signed were duplicated. The rounders evidently visited every saloon in town and signed each time.

CAMPBELL ON M'KINLEY.

Ex-Governor James E. Campbell, speaking on expansion, declared himself unmistakably in favor of it. He concluded: "I don't belong to the president's party, but I know him and want to give him a chance. Any man who can beat me for governor of Ohio 92,000 votes has got to be a mighty good man." And that's just what the people of Ohio and the United States consider William McKinley to be.

RECOMMENDATION:

Yea, verily, 'tis a warm and much-to-be-desired recommendation on the part of a true and staunch Republican to be maligned and abused and villified in a Democratic newspaper. 'Tis a sure indication that the Republican scored is a true Republican, a man working strongly and intelligently against Democratic policy and Democratic rule. Mark this in the lining of your hat.

SUSPENSION!

He worked for John Smith and failed in his duties. John suspended him for a month. He accepted the suspension in an easy manner, redolent of cheek and an article known as "brass," reported every day during the month, lounged around and took it easy, and then presented a bill for a full month's work, as usual, was called down to the queen's taste by Honest John, and then had the nerve to attempt to collect by law. "What shall the harvest be?"

KRUGER APPEALS

Reported to Have Approached
Premier Salisbury

FOR CESSION OF HOSTILITIES

And the Restoration of Conditions Before the War—Terms Considered Unsatisfactory, and It Is Understood They Were Rejected by England.

LONDON, March 9—[Special.] It is announced that President Kruger has appealed to Premier Salisbury for a cessation of hostilities in South Africa but that the terms were unsatisfactory to England and it is understood they were rejected.

The terms were the resumption of the status quo ante, the franchise question to be submitted to arbitration. This would mean that both the South African republic and the republic of the Orange Free State should remain as they were prior to the war. In the event of the actual refusal of England, President Kruger will appeal to Europe for arbitration.

HOUSE SEATED ALDRICH.

Vote Taken on Alabama Contested Election Case—Row Between Mahon and Tolbert.

WASHINGTON. March 9.—The house unseated Gaston A. Robbins, a Democrat from the Fourth Alabama district, and seated in his stead William F. Aldrich, a Republican, who has been three times a contestant from the same district, on the ground of fraud, and who is now given his seat for the third time by a Republican house. The vote was a strict party one. This case out of the way a new rule was brought in to set aside the day sessions on the second and fourth Fridays of each month for pension legislation.

The rule limited debate on each bill to 10 minutes on a side, but this provision was withdrawn upon the assurance of Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, that his side of the house would not indulge in filibustering. During the debate on the rule there was quite a lively row between Mr. Mahon, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Tolbert, of South Carolina. Before adjourning the house took up the contested election case of Wise vs. Young, from the Second Virginia district, Mr. Weeks (Mich.) giving notice that he would ask a vote on it at 2 o'clock Monday.

A SMALL TARIFF, NO DIRECT TAX.

Foraker's Plan For Porto Rico—Defends Bill—Court to Decide Important Question.

WASHINGTON. March 9.—Formal discussion of the Porto Rican tariff and civil government bill began in the senate, the principal speakers being Mr. Foraker (Rep., O.), in charge of the measure, and Mr. Pettus (Dem., Ala.), but at various times during the debate lively colloquies occurred, in which other senators were participants.

After Mr. Mason (Ills.) had entered his motion to discharge the committee on foreign relations from further consideration of his resolution expressing sympathy for the Boers, and it had gone over until today, under the rule, Mr. Pettus delivered a carefully prepared speech in opposition to the pending bill. He argued that it was unconstitutional and in violation of the principles of this government as laid down by the fathers of the country.

Mr. Foraker occupied the floor during the remainder of the session. He explained the measure in detail and gave the reasons why the committee had determined upon the levying of a tariff upon Porto Rican products. In his opinion it was impossible for a direct tax to be levied upon the people of the island to support a local government, because of their present destitute condition. The committee, he said, had conceived the idea of placing a small tariff on Porto Rican products in order to raise a sum sufficient, with the sum otherwise raised, to give the people of the island not only a good government, but also to build school houses and to make necessary public improvements. Then, too, it was necessary that the question of extension of the constitution over our insular possessions should be determined by the supreme court and by the very provisions of the bill, it would be inevitable that the supreme court should pass upon that question. Porto Rico and the Philippines, he said, were on the same basis, so that the court decision would determine our right to levy a tariff on products of the eastern archipelago.

A GIGANTIC OIL DEAL.

London Branch of the Standard Trust Buys Vast Interests In Ohio. Consideration, $10,000,000.

TOLEDO. March 9.—The English petroleum syndicate of London, the foreign branch of the Standard Oil company, is reliably reported to have closed a gigantic deal in the Ohio oil field. The company absorbs the Cudahy combination of Chicago and the Manhattan Oil company.

The consideration is said to be $10,000,000.

NEW BISHOP OF COLUMBUS.

Reported That Father Moeller Has Been Selected.

CINCINNATI. March 9.—Unofficial advices from Rome announce the selection of Henry Moeller, secretary and chancellor of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, as bishop of Columbus. The papal approval is expected within a few days. Father Moeller has received no notification from Rome and refuses to say anything on the matter whatever.

Convicted of Embracery.

PHILADELPHIA. March 9.—Henry J.

Fairbanks, of this city, was convicted in the United States district court of the charge of attempted embracery in connection with the trial of Attorneys Ellery P. Ingham and Harvey K. Newitt. His counsel moved for a new trial and, pending argument, Judge McPherson refused bail. Thomas O'Dea, who was arrested with Fairbanks on a similar charge, was surrendered by his bondsmen. He will probably not be tried until the next term of court.

Doubt as to Money Market Being Pinched Before Currency Law Went Into Effect.

NEW YORK. March 9.—The market was practically relieved Thursday of all disturbing factors in the way of acute weakness of special stocks. Reports all continued favorable regarding the outlook for values, but the demand for stocks was almost unappreciable. Even the small buying for investment, based on large earnings for railroads which has been in evidence for some time past, dropped out of sight. Speculators are restraining entirely from commitments for the advance. On the other hand the bear operators of any considerable caliber seemed to become discouraged by the fatality of their efforts and the culmination of events counted upon for a reaction.

The iron and steel stocks were generally firm on the encouraging opinions expressed by anti-o cities in the trade. The published report of a proposed increase in the next dividend on the preferred stock of Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis was met by a drop in that stock of 3½ points. There was continued doubt and apprehension over the capacity of the money market to get through without a pinch to the period of relief by the operation of the currency bill. The possibility was canvassed of action by the treasury department to resume the deposit of internal revenue collections with the banks, but no authoritative sanction was given for such possibility. The absorption of funds by the New York sub-treasury since last Friday had already reached $5,621,000 up to the close of business Wednesday night. The total revenue surplus taken up by the government since the first of the month up to the same date amounted to only $2,066,245. The special drain thus indicated upon the New York banks is due to the large customs payments by importers. Imports at present are running very high as an incident of the active demand for commodities, and the payment of the duties is diverted from the New York banks into the sub-treasury.

The demand for loans for purchase of government bonds continues large. These two factors threaten the early obliteration of surplus reserves of the New York banks.

The bond market was not so active as Wednesday, but prices were firmly held. Total sales, par value, $1,590,000.

United States 3's declined ¼ and the new 4's ½ in the bid price.

Chicago Grain Market.

CHICAGO. March 9.—Under the inspiration of cash wheat strength at Liverpool and New York, wheat futures on the board of trade Thursday were active and strong. May closing ¾ over Wednesday. May corn closed ½ up, helped by a good cash demand and May oats a shade higher. The provisions market closed strong, May pork 17½@20c, May lard 5@7½c and May ribs 7½@10c improved.

EVENTS BRIEFLY NARRATED

The Fifth cavalry, which has been in Porto Rico since the Spanish war, has been ordered home next week.

The directors of the St. Louis Transit company have promised to give an answer today to the demands of their dissatisfied employees.

The convention of the Amalgamated Woodworkers of America, in session at Grand Rapids, decided not to admit upholsterers, varnishers and gilders.

Letters of administration on the estate of General Lawton were issued to the widow at Washington. The personal estate consists only of $1,000 back pay.

Chief of Police Ross and six other Democrats of Lexington, Ky., were arrested and released on bail, on charges of intimidating voters at the November election.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

NORRISTOWN, Pa. March 9.—Philip Kuntz was convicted of manslaughter, in causing the death of Pierce W. Cope. During a fight Kuntz struck Cope on the head with a sledgehammer, the injury causing death. Motion was made for a new trial.

Phelps Slowly Sinking.

NEW HAVEN. March 9.—Ex-Minister Phelps was very weak and was gradually though not rapidly failing. The physicians held out no hope whatever for recovery.

Mausers and Lee-Enfields.

The chief distinction between the Mauser and the Lee-Enfield is this—that while the Lee-Enfield has a magazine which is inserted underneath the body through the trigger guard and secured by a catch and is provided with what is called a "cut off" to prevent the cartridges from rising, so that it can be used as a simple breechloader for single firing until the magazine, which contains ten cartridges, is ordered to be used, the Mauser has a magazine which, though not absolutely fixed, is only intended to be taken off for cleaning. It does not need a "cut off" to use as a single loader.

The magazine contains five cartridges, but whereas the cartridges for the Lee-Enfield have, when the magazine is charged, to be each put in separately, the magazine of the Mauser is filled at once by placing against the face of the magazine a set of five cartridges held in a clip which falls off when the cartridges have been inserted in the magazine.

Thus if each weapon were at the beginning of a fight empty, the Mauser would permit of more rapid fire because it could be loaded five cartridges at a time, while the Lee-Enfield would take, cartridge by cartridge, as long to load as a single breechloader. On the other hand, the times when a very rapid discharge of fire is desirable are not numerous, and for these the Lee-Enfield has ten cartridges ready against the Mauser's five.—Nineteenth Century.

Key, Kee, Kay.

Professor Skeat wishes to know when the pronunciation of key as kee can first be clearly detected. It occurs in Milton, "Comus," line 13:

To lay their just hands on that golden key
That opes the palace of eternity.

And a little later in Marvell's "Feleno."

Now as two instruments to the same key
Being tuned by art, if the one touched be,
The other opposite as soon replies.

These instances are curious, for both before and after this time the prevailing pronunciation was evidently kay. Herbert rhymes the word with way. In "The Secrets of Angling" (1613) culverkeys is rhymed with rays. In Wither's "Mistress of Philaret" (1622), key with day. Dryden, too, and Swift have the same pronunciation, and not till I come to Green's "Spleen" (1737) do I, after an hour's search, find the other. There pleas rhymes with keys. This pronunciation must, however, have become common soon afterward.

In Duncombe's "Imitation of Gray's Elegy" it is rhymed with me, and Garrick rhymes it with flea, which would, I suppose, be pronounced then as it is now. Nares, in his "Elements of Orthoepy" (1764), says of the diphthong ey, "Its proper sound should be that of the long e. This, however, is given to it only in the word key, for ley—a field—is constantly written lea."—Notes and Queries.

More Sociable.

A lady who has recently returned from abroad had a curious experience at the little town of Dinant, in Belgium. She was traveling in party of three, including another lady and a young man. They sought accommodation at a hotel and were shown a room in which there were three beds and on a deal table three basins and jugs about as big as slop basins and milk jugs.

The ladies explained that one room was quite insufficient for their needs, but it was a long time before they could get the hostess to understand why. They were then shown another room with three beds, three slop basins and three milk jugs and were told that they could have that, too, if they liked to pay for the six beds. It was therefore arranged that the man should have one room and three beds and the ladies the other room and three beds.

"Do you always sleep in threes?" said one lady to the hostess.

"Yes," was the reply; "it is much more sociable."—Madame.

Doubled Him Up.

A prominent western clergyman, W. W. White by name, was a member of a learned society in which there were several members who were fond of quibbling. During a speech he had been annoyed by their interruptions almost beyond the point of endurance. At last he said, "I trust I will not be troubled again until my speech is finished."

Before he could begin another sentence one of his chief tormenters arose and said, slowly and solemnly: "Oh, doctor double-u, double-u, double-u, we love to trouble you, trouble you, trouble you."

The doctor sat down.

EPIDEMIC OF TYPHOID MALARIA, Funerals Said to Have Averaged Four a Day, at Braddock, Pa.

PITTSBURG, March 9.—Malarial typhoid is epidemic in Braddock and vicinity. Some ascribe the causes to garbage and filth in the gutters and streets, to the many unpaved alleys and by-paths of the town, to the germ disturbance from the digging up of the thoroughfares, to the flushing out of saloons and stores between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon, when the greatest number of pedestrians is out, and to the water, which has become impregnated with poisonous microbes from sewage, rubbish pools and old cisterns or wells.

Doctors are overworked, typhoid and other fever cases of malarial accompaniment are plentiful and funerals, largely of patients who have succumbed to typhoid or its complications, are averaging four a day.

QUEEN'S VISIT TO LONDON.

Crowds Paid Her Loyal Tribute Enroute to Buckingham.

LONDON, March 9.—The queen's arrival in London and the commencement of her visit to the metropolis were marked by scenes of enthusiasm unparalleled since the jubilee celebration. Throughout the demonstrations there predominated a note of triumph, and the cheers that made the murky streets ring were almost as much in honor of the British victories in South Africa as they were vociferous tributes of a loyal people to a monarch whose womanly sympathy has been so strikingly shown since the war began.

When the train from Windsor arrived a tremendous cheer went up. Her majesty came down the sloping platform leaning on the arm of a turbaned Indian attendant and entered an open landau, in which also sat Princess Henry of Battenberg and Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein. They all wore black, and around her neck the queen had a sable collar.

From the packed sidewalks and from every available window came a continuous roar of cheers, while hundreds of little flags were waved all the way to Buckingham palace.

Makeshift Wedding Rings.

Curious instances have been cited where makeshift substitutes for the conventional wedding ring have been utilized during the marriage ceremony. One such instance occurred some time ago in a nearby town, where the ring was missing. Nothing better being available as a substitute, a curtain ring was used, and on still another occasion the ring handle of the church key was utilized. A couple in this state used in such an emergency a ring formed from the outer edge of a coin and which had been carried by some one present as a curiosity.

A gallant best man came to the rescue at a recent wedding, when the ring was not forthcoming at the right time. He drew from his tie the slender stick pin that had been adorning it, and bending the wire into ring shape, handed the improvised wedding ring to the distracted groom.

A horseshoe nail bent to the shape of a ring is said to bring a great deal of luck to the owner, and the lead cramp ring worn six centuries ago has given place to various rings now worn to prevent and cure rheumatism.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The Polite Lie in Embryo.

A little child has given us a peep into the process by which the polite lie is developed. Mamma was talking to Edith about the absence of Edith from the children's party.

"You are sorry," said mamma, "that Edith could not come?"

Effie replied, having enjoyed herself. "Oh, I don't mind much."

To which mamma rejoined: "But Edith is ill. That is why she couldn't come. You must be sorry." Effie considered. "Yes; of course I'm sorry," she said, "but it doesn't hurt me—in side."—London Chronicle.

The Ruling Passion.

Wife (who has been out shopping all day)—Oh, dear, how tired and hungry I am!

Husband—Didn't you have any luncheon in town?

Wife—A plate of soup only. I didn't feel that I could afford to have more.

Husband—Did you find the hat you wanted?

Wife—Oh, yes. It is a perfect dream. John, and it only cost $28.—Collier's Weekly.

Too Much Time Wanted.

"If you will get my new suit done by Saturday," said a customer to a tailor. "I'll be forever indebted to you."

"If that's your game," replied the tailor, "the clothes will not be done at all."—Ohio State Journal.

To Fly in Your Dreams.

There is a peculiarity about the flying dream that seems to be constant. Of all those whom I asked about the matter and who are conscious of the flying dream at all not one has ever known himself to make any high flights in his dreams. One always flies low, with a skimming manner, slightly, but only slightly, above the heads of pedestrians.

And one's critical attitude in a dream toward one's own performance is always interesting to note, both in regard to this particular class of dream and even more toward one of the other classes. It is an attitude that is well brought out in "Alice in Wonderland," where Alice is made to exclaim or to think while she is falling. "How brave they will all think it of me at home not to mind a great fall like this!"—Long man's.

Logical.

"What is a furrier, Tommy?" asked the teacher of a pupil in the juvenile class.

"A man who deals in furs," answered Tommy.

"That's right," said the teacher. "Now, Tommy, you may tell me what a currier is."

"A man who deals in currs," was the unexpected but logical reply.—Chicago News.

The Coldest Country.

The coldest inhabited country appears to be the province of Werchojansk, in oriental Siberia. A Russian savant passed one entire year in the inhospitable region and kept a daily record of the temperature, from which it appears that the daily mean of the entire year is 2.74 degrees below zero.

The first constitutional convention in Ohio contained as delegates five men who afterward were elected governor of the state and four who became United States senators.

UNION LABELS

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

15TH YEAR. NO. 228

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1900.

TWO CENTS

EVEN KRUGER FAILED

Couldn't Stem Retreat of the Free Staters.

BOERS MADE PEACE PROPOSAL.

Such a Rumor in London, Believed to Be Correct—Terms Which Might Have Averted War, Impossible Now—French still After Retreating Burghers.

POPLAR GROVE, March 9.—President Kruger, who at present is far in the rear, tried to stop the retreating Boers, who refused to stay.

The Bloemfontein police tried to stop the retreat of the Free Staters, but they declared that they were not willing to fight any longer, and they blamed President Steyn.

LONDON, March 9.—The Boers appear to have made no stand whatever, except that, while in retreat, they twice repulsed General French's cavalry with rifle fire. As no report has been made of the capture of prisoners, the enemy accept it as a fact, however painful, he added:

The government remains assured that the surrender will not discourage the burghers in the defense of their independence and standing as a nation. The struggle thus far has shown the republics have vindicated themselves as an independent people. This reverse will not stagger us. In the struggle for our cherished rights our belief remains that whatever happens the Lord still reigns.

Owing to the invasion of the Free State by a large force of the enemy, and other circumstances, it became necessary to take up other positions, hence the Burghers in Natal have retired to Biggarsberg. All the commandos have reached there safely, except a few, who retired in the direction of Van Reenen's pass. Thus Ladysmith and Kimberley are no more besieged. In retiring, the enemy was time and time after driven back, so that our laagers were not cut off. In these fights a few men were killed or wounded, and the enemy lost heavily.

In spite of all reports, the spirit of the fighters to the outcome remains unchanged. Among the commandos in Natal the Burghers are full of courage.

General Dewet now commands all the commandos at the Modder river.

The president started yesterday evening for Bloemfontein to visit the laager of the Free State.

JOUBERT A MAJOR GENERAL.

Other Appointments Also Made at Boer Council of War.

BOER CAMP, BIGGERSBERG, March 9.—At a general council of war, Louis Botha was appointed lieutenant general for Natal and Lukas Meyer, Schalkburger, David Joubert, Daniel Erasmus and J. Fourie were appointed major generals.

The selections gave lively satisfaction to the Burghers.

OBSEQUIES OF HENNESSY.

Simple Ceremonies Occurred Over the Remains of the Archbishop at the Cathedral, In Dubuque.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, March 9.—The obsequies of John Hennessey, first archbishop of Dubuque, occurred here and were of the simplest character. There were no flowers or ornaments, even the high altar being stripped of everything not necessary to the celebration of mass. There was also an entire absence of music, only the voices of hundreds of priests being heard in the Gregorian chant, all this being in accord with the dead prelate's wish.

Cardinal Gibbons and each of the archbishops celebrated requiem mass. For about two hours all the church bells in the city were tolled. Courts adjourned and many manufacturing institutions and business houses were closed.

The cathedral was crowded and hundreds stood outside during the service. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, pronounced the eulogy. Interment took place immediately after the mass, the casket containing the body being placed in the vault and sealed.

Bigelew Finds More Padding on the Part of Paisley at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURG, March 9.—Alarming discoveries were made yesterday by Director Bigelow in his investigation of the records of S. T. Paisley, late superintendent of the bureau of highways and sewers.

Instead of six or eight fictitious names having been used, meaning a possible loss of $5,000 or $6,000 to the city, it has been ascertained that 150 names padded the payrolls at different times, which may mean that the city has paid out irregularly from $25,000 to $35,000.

AN EIGHT-CLUB LEAGUE.

Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland and Louisville to Be Bought Out.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The National League finally succeeded, after three months of an effort on the part of its circuit committee, in reducing its baseball circuit to eight clubs.

It was learned that the prices to be paid the retiring clubs for dropping out are as follows: Baltimore gets $30,000 for its franchise, the club to dispose of its players to the best advantage; Washington is to be paid $39,000 for its players and franchise; Cleveland is to get $15,000 and Louisville $10,000.

Assailed a British Consulate.

BORDEAUX, March 9.—A number of students and others issuing from a pro-Boer meeting marched to the British consulate, battered down the door, shattered the windows with stones, and then proceeded to the consul's private residence, where they indulged in a similar demonstration. The police dispersed the mob and arrested several of the rioters.

The military critics comment on the discouraging news from Mafeking. Colonel Baden-Powell seems to be in grave need of outside help. Otherwise he would not allow the correspondents to send out information respecting the distress of the garrison.

A readjustment of some of the higher commands is taking place. General White is to go to Stormberg to take supreme command of General Gatacre's division and the Tenth division, now in process of formation, which will be under the immediate command of General Hunter, Sir George White's chief of staff.

The Daily News makes the following editorial announcement:

"It was rumored in London yesterday, and we have some reason for believing the rumor to be correct—that the two republics made informal and unofficial overtures of peace on the preceding day.

"Unfortunately the conditions suggested were of such a character as to preclude the possibility of leading to any result. Terms which might have been gladly accepted before the war, in order to avert it, are impossible after the war, with all the sacrifices it has entailed."

POWER OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Republican Party Fighting Principle In Porto Rico Tariff Question—Bill Gives Islanders Some Relief, as Would Free Trade—President and Congress Agreed.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—A member of the cabinet gave out an authoritative statement, which said in part:

The president, in his annual message of December, urged that the customs duties on trade between Porto Rico and the United States be removed.

What the president proposed was that the United States should offer the largest and most generous measure of help to the distressed and suffering island, and he has never wavered a single instant in the object he sought. But when the time came for action in congress two tendencies were seen. On the one hand there were good men and some business and agricultural interests that, while not objecting or little objecting to free trade with Porto Rico alone, feared that free trade with Porto Rico would be made a precedent for free trade with the Philippines. They felt that there should be a distinct association and express power to impose duties, however small, as an assurance that this power was reserved for other cases.

On the other hand, what the president proposed as a worthy act of national generosity and liberal policy, was seized by political opponents and claimed as a necessary and inevitable measure of inherent constitutional right. They insisted that the constitution by its own force extends to Porto Rico and all the new island possessions and spreads all its provisions over them, including uniform taxation. They were eager to commit a Republican congress to the adoption of free trade with Porto Rico, not as a measure of generous expediency, but because they could then claim that it had riveted a hard and fast principle which would tie the hands of the government everywhere, in the Philippines as well as in Porto Rico, without regard to varying conditions, and which would expose the administration and its party to all the criticisms and attacks that would be made on such a position.

It was a cunning game, but it did not succeed. The apprehension of the honest objectors, who feared that the concession of full free trade to Porto Rico would lead to misconstruction, and the designs of the crafty partisans who meant that it should, were both met and frustrated by the bill which passed the house and which levies 15 per cent, or less than one-sixth of the Dingley rates. That low rate involves no possible hardship. It has the advantage of producing needed revenue, which, until civil government and law are fully organized in Porto Rico, cannot be raised as well from any other source.

There was another point which was not generally understood. The bill provides that the whole amount of duties on goods coming from Porto Rico should be paid back to Porto Rico for the benefit of the island. Thus it fully harmonizes with the object at which the president aimed, of relieving the trade of Porto Rico from burdensome restrictions and of extending the largest degree of help; and when it was crowned by the president's special message, promptly carried out by the house, providing not only that the duties heretofore collected, but that those heretofore collected, to the amount of $2,000,000, should be appropriated, to be expended wholly in Porto Rico for her development and improvement absolutely, no ground was left for any pretense that the policy of the president and congress was in the slightest degree harsh and oppressive.

Nobody can understandably object to the 15 per cent duty, all paid back to Porto Rico on the ground that it is unfair and hard towards Porto Rico. He can understandably object only on the claim that there is no power to levy any duty at all, and such a claim would leave the president and congress powerless and helpless in the Philippines, as well as in Porto Rico.

Congress was aiming at the same result as the president, and the president rightfully accepts the act of congress. The representation that either was not in accord with the other disregards every essential element in the case.

The country is starting out on a new departure and on a new experiment, and it is of the highest importance, for our own safety as well as for the welfare of the new peoples who have come under the flag, that we should leave ourselves free to deal with each case as its own merits demand. The claim which insists that free trade goes by legal right to Porto Rico would bind us hand and foot.

The partisans who have sought to put the president and congress in a hole, have, perhaps unconsciously, dug a pit for themselves. They will find that they have taken a position which would estop them from carrying out the policy they have proposed for the disposition of the Philippines.

It is enough for the present to say that our contention that the constitution does not by its own force extend over the new possessions without legislative act is in harmony with the general tenor of judicial decision and legislative action from the acquisition of Louisiana down to this time.

The Republican party had its birth in an issue very like that which is now presented. The Calhoun doctrine was that the constitution by its own force carried slavery into the territories of the United States. The Republican can party sprang into being from the uprising of the public conscience against that doctrine.

One of the reasons of the Chicago platform of 1860, on which Abraham Lincoln was elected president, was in these words: "That the dogma that the constitution of its own force carried slavery into any or all of the territories of the United States is a dangerous political heresy, at variance with the explicit provisions of that instrument itself, with contemporaneous exposition and with legislative and judicial precedents, is revolutionary in its tendency and subversive of the peace and harmony of the country."

The political heir of those who put forward the dogma that the constitution of its own force carried slavery into the United States now maintain the dogma that the constitution of its own force carries free trade even into the new island territory of the United States without any legislative action. It is an interesting circumstance that in this new epoch of our history the Republican party is again battling for a principle kindred to that which gave it birth.

DYNAMITING OF CONCENTRATOR.

Sovereign Reiterated the Story Under Cross-Examination.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—James R. Sovereign continued his testimony at the Courier d'Alene investigation before the house committee on military affairs.

Mr. Sovereign testified that the miners' union was not responsible for the publication written by him, which had been introduced as evidence.

The cross-examination took Mr. Sovereign over the exciting events attending the blowing up of the Bunker Hill concentrator, and the witness was made to recite, in minute detail, the circumstances of the affair, the explosions, shooting, etc. In the main, this was an elaboration of the direct testimony previously given. He said the masks worn by the men were of ordinary cloth, holes being cut out for the eyes.

TWENTY-EIGHT

STILL IN THE MINE.

Inquest Over the Dead of the West Virginia Disaster to Commence Today.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 9.—Three more dead bodies were taken from the Red Ash mine, near Fire Creek. They are Charles Downey, white; Walter Dennis and Peter Cappell, colored—making the total number of dead recovered 21. Four new names have been added to the list of those already known to be in the mine—John Clair, Fred Arnold, William Massie and Moses Daniels.

The bodies of those found in the mine are badly scorched, especially the skin not protected by clothing. The skin is burnt to a crisp, but the features are recognizable and show no distortion. The bodies are somewhat bruised, as if blown or hurled some distance, but are not mangled. The mine is very hot, and this makes progress slow.

Twenty-eight is the number known to be still in the mine. It had been reported that a second explosion had occurred, but this was denied by State Mine Inspector Paul.

The work has progressed 4,000 feet into the mine. Inspector Paul was in Charleston, in conference with Governor Atkinson, relative to the manner of holding an inquest over the bodies of the victims of the mine disaster. It was decided to hold a general inquest today, in conjunction with the coroner, and if the result of it is not satisfactory a special inquest will be held by the governor.

MAFEKING IN SAD STRAITS.

Death, Disease, Hunger and Shells Among the Besieged.

MAFEKING, March 9.—What may be typhoid malaria has broken out in the women's laager and dysentery, due to the absence of vegetables, is rife among the garrison. We are thrown upon our own resources. Such luxuries as we had are exhausted or have been commandeered for the hospitals, which are filled to overflowing. The children's graveyard, close to the women's laager, grows weekly as the young lives are cut short prematurely by shell and fever. We look with hope deferred for relief.

From their advanced posts the Boers rake the streets and the market square. It is impossible to dodge their bullets. Two hundred and ninety-two persons have been killed, wounded or died of disease. The garrison is so small that it would be criminal to make its weakness public.

Actress Perished in Burning Theatre.

PARIS, March 9.—The Comedie Francaise was gutted by fire. Mademoiselle Hennot, an actress, perished in the flames. Another woman, a dresser, was badly burned. There were some brave rescues.

RIOT DUE TO STRIKE

A Number Injured in Fracas in Chicago.

ONE MAN LIKELY FATALLY HURT.

Strikers Threatened to Kill Employees of a Belt Company and Struck One in the Head—He Shot One of the Unionists During the Melee.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Labor troubles culminated in a riot at Thirty-sixth and Wallace streets. One man was shot and probably fatally wounded and six others were wounded, one of them severely. The injured persons are:

William Schindler, shot in the breast and seriously wounded by Joseph Walsh; will die.

Joseph Walsh, foreman for the Link Belt Machinery company, nose broken and severely bruised.

H. K. McLain, superintendent same company, beaten about head and body; not serious.

James Coffey, machinist, bruised about body; not serious.

Samuel Bonstra, machinist, bruised about body; not serious.

Peter Speck, machinist, beaten about head; not serious.

Nicholas Debar, beaten about face; not serious.

It is believed that other persons were hurt in the fight, but they escaped before the police arrived and their names were not learned. Previously the strikers have followed Walsh and McLain every night when they left the shop, and have threatened to kill them. Somebody threw a club at Walsh, striking him in the back of the head. He accused Schindler and, when the latter denied it, a fight occurred.

FUNNY MEN.

The jests of Heliogabulus were very practical. He was fond of inviting people with some physical deformity to dinner and making jokes about them. At times he would invite a dozen hunchbacks or a score of squinting ladies or an equal number of baldheads. Once he put a large number of excessively fat people, all very hungry, into a small chamber where dinner was waiting. There was no room to eat it. Another diversion of which he was fond was that of placing his guests on air sofas, so that when they were about to drink he could let the air out and have both sofa and guest collapse.

It is said that Nero, the Roman emperor, liked to "shy" nuts at the bald heads of the praetors who sat below during the performance at the theater, and they were expected to maintain their baldheaded dignity and refrain from "shying" them back at him.

I have been acquainted with C. C. Baker for many years, and know him to be a man all the way through, honest, honorable, intelligent, educated, brainy, conscientious and courageous—just such a man as we need in congress, able and fearless and fully competent to hold his own in argument, debate or statesmanship. Further, I know him to be a man OF THE PEOPLE; a man who will pay thorough attention to the wants and needs of the common people, the great mass of our grand citizenship, the mechanics and toilers of the nation.

I know him as a citizen beyond reproach—a man of clean and pure life. I knew him as a gallant soldier and a true comrade; a soldier who faced the foe in the hour of emergency and did full duty wherever assigned.

I want the voters of Columbiana county to know my friend and comrade better than they do at the present time. I want them to grasp his hand and look him squarely in the face and eyes, and there make note of the fact that they are making the acquaintance of one of nature's noblemen—a man who loves his fellow men and who is willing to do battle royal for a common brotherhood; a man whom I hope will be the next congressman from the Eighteenth congressional district of the state of Ohio.

GRIM IS STILL MINUS

The Salary He Thinks the City and Mayor Owe Him.

JURY DIDN'T SEE IT HIS WAY

And Finally Disagreed but Only Two of the Jurymen were For Grim While the Other Four Thought He Wasn't Entitled to Any Compensation.

The case of D. Arthur Grim against the city, Mayor Bough and his bonds-men, for salary which he thinks he ought to have for the time he was suspended, was heard yesterday afternoon in the court of Squire Rose, and if Grim gets any money he will have to have the case tried again as the jury disagreed in regard to his claim. The case did not attract a great deal of attention.

After a motion of Solicitor McGarry had been overruled by the squire the attorneys made their statements to the jury. Clark spent his time in reviewing the case but McGarry opened his address by stating "that this was an old score and one that should not have arisen in a respectable community and one that would not have arisen where men had a spark of manhood in them and did not seek to fill offices for which they were not wanted." He then reviewed the case.

Grim was the first witness and he testified as to the fact that he was a police officer and had been appointed in January, '98 by A. V. Gilbert. He said he was suspended May 24 and was reinstated July 11. He told of some conversations he had with the mayor and said he had reported for duty every day after he was reinstated and wore his uniform. He also remarked that he had made at least half a dozen arrests July 11 and Aug. 28.

He stated that the mayor had told him that he didn't think he was favorable to his administration and he could generally judge a man by the company he kept.

On cross-examination, the witness stated that he had received his appointment under Mayor Gilbert and had later been appointed under Mayor Bough, but had never received a second appointment under Bough and had simply held over.

"You wouldn't resign, would you, when you knew you wasn't wanted?" asked McGarry.

"I was wanted by a majority of the good citizens," answered Grim.

"You don't know much about good citizens, then, do you?" responded McGarry, and after Grim had made a few remarks and was called down by the squire, the case proceeded.

In response to a question from Clark, Grim said he was a Republican.

Chief Johnson came next and he testified in regard to the dates and the fact that Grim had reported every day for duty. Clerk Hanley also testified in regard to dates and the case for the plaintiff closed.

Mayor Bough was the first witness for the defense and he testified that he appointed Grim once, but did not re-appoint him. He said he stated to council his reasons for not appointing Grim, but had never given them to the newspapers. He said Grim's dignity seemed to be very much offended, and the whole had failed to agree.

cause seemed to be that he had been compared with John Whan as a drinking man. He said he was a Prohibitionist, but he had never taken that into consideration in his appointment of police officers, and thought he had never sent but two Prohibitionists' names to council for confirmation.

On cross-examination the mayor stated that he had nothing against Grim except the charges, and thought if he had been Grim he would have gracefully submitted to an investigation without making a fool out of himself like Grim did on several occasions in his presence. The mayor then told of the suspensions, and the case was ended as far as the testimony was concerned.

The arguments lasted until 9 o'clock when the jury, consisting of W. H. Gass, G. M. Adam, Thomas Pickall, John Kerr, Sr., Matthew Anderson and S. J. Martin got the case. They remained out until 10:30 o'clock when they returned with the information that they

It's a cold day when a French play isn't hot enough to burn down a theater.

A PETITION alleged to contain the names of 2,300 Zanesville citizens against the Clark local option bill was found to be 1,000 names shy and many of those actually signed were duplicated. The rounders evidently visited every saloon in town and signed each time.

CAMPBELL ON M'KINLEY.

Ex-Governor James E. Campbell, speaking on expansion, declared himself unmistakably in favor of it. He concluded: "I don't belong to the president's party, but I know him and want to give him a chance. Any man who can beat me for governor of Ohio 92,000 votes has got to be a mighty good man." And that's just what the people of Ohio and the United States consider William McKinley to be.

RECOMMENDATION!

Yea, verily, 'tis a warm and much-to-be-desired recommendation on the part of a true and staunch Republican to be maligned and abused and vilified in a Democratic newspaper. 'Tis a sure indication that the Republican scored a true Republican, a man working strongly and intelligently against Democratic policy and Democratic rule. Mark this in the lining of your hat.

SUSPENSION!

He worked for John Smith and failed in his duties. John suspended him for a month. KRUGER APPEALS

Reported to Have Approached
Premier Salisbury

FOR CESSION OF HOSTILITIES

And the Restoration of Conditions Before the War—Terms Considered Unsatisfactory, and It Is Understood They Were Rejected by England.

LONDON, March 9—[Special.]
It is announced that President Kruger has appealed to Premier Salisbury for a cessation of hostilities in South Africa but that the terms were unsatisfactory to England and it is understood they were rejected.

The terms were the resumption of the status quo ante, the franchise question to be submitted to arbitration. This would mean that both the South African republic and the republic of the Orange Free State should remain as they were prior to the war. In the event of the actual refusal of England, President Kruger will appeal to Europe for arbitration.

HOUSE SEATED ALDRICH.

Vote Taken on Alabama Contested Election Case—Row Between Mahon and Tolbert.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The house unseated Gaston A. Robbins, a Democrat from the Fourth Alabama district, and seated in his stead William F. Aldrich, a Republican, who has been three times a contestant from the same district, on the ground of fraud, and who is now given his seat for the third time by a Republican house. The vote was a strict party one. This case out of the way a new rule was brought in to set aside the day sessions on the second and fourth Fridays of each month for pension legislation.

The rule limited debate on each bill to 10 minutes on a side, but this provision was withdrawn upon the assurance of Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, that his side of the house would not indulge in filibustering. During the debate on the rule there was quite a lively row between Mr. Mahon, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Tolbert, of South Carolina. Before adjourning the house took up the contested election case of Wise vs. Young, from the Second Virginia district, Mr. Weeks (Mich.) giving notice that he would ask a vote on it at 3 o'clock Monday.

A SMALL TARIFF, NO DIRECT TAX.

Foraker's Plan For Porto Ricans—Defends Bill—Court to Decide Important Question.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Formal discussion of the Porto Rican tariff and civil government bill began in the senate, the principal speakers being Mr. Foraker (Rep., O.), in charge of the measure, and Mr. Pettus (Dem., Ala.), but at various times during the debate lively colloquies occurred, in which other senators were participants.

After Mr. Mason (Ills.) had entered his motion to discharge the committee on foreign relations from further consideration of his resolution expressing sympathy for the Boers, and it had gone over until today, under the rule, Mr. Pettus delivered a carefully prepared speech in opposition to the pending bill. He argued that it was unconstitutional and in violation of the principles of this government as laid down by the fathers of the country.

Mr. Foraker occupied the floor during the remainder of the session. He explained the measure in detail and gave the reasons why the committee had determined upon the levying of a tariff upon Porto Rican products. In his opinion it was impossible for a direct tax to be levied upon the people of the island to support a local government, because of their present destitute condition.

The committee, he said, had conceived the idea of placing a small tariff on Porto Rican products in order to raise a sum sufficient, with the sum otherwise raised, to give the people of the island not only a good government, but also to build school houses and to make necessary public improvements.

Then, too, it was necessary that the question of extension of the constitution over our insular possessions should be determined by the supreme court and by the very provisions of the bill, it would be inevitable that the supreme court should pass upon that question.

Porto Rico and the Philippines, he said, were on the same basis, so that the court decision would determine our right to levy a tariff on products of the eastern archipelago.

A GIGANTIC OIL DEAL.

London Branch of the Standard Trust Buys Vast Interests In Ohio. Consideration, $10,000,000.

TOLEDO, March 9.—The English petroleum syndicate of London, the foreign branch of the Standard Oil company, is reliably reported to have closed a gigantic deal in the Ohio oil field. The company absorbs the Cudahy combination of Chicago and the Manhattan Oil company.

The consideration is said to be $10,000,000.

NEW BISHOP OF COLUMBUS.

Reported That Father Moeller Has Been Selected.

CINCINNATI, March 9.—Unofficial advices from Rome announce the selection of Henry Moeller, secretary and chancellor of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, as bishop of Columbus. The papal approval is expected within a few days. Father Moeller has received no notification from Rome and refuses to say anything on the matter whatever.

Convicted of Embracery.

PHILADELPHIA. March 9.—Henry J.

Fairbanks, of this city, was convicted in the United States district court of the charge of attempted embracery in connection with the trial of Attorneys Ellery P. Ingham and Harvey K. Newitt. His counsel moved for a new trial and, pending argument, Judge McPherson refused bail. Thomas O'Dea, who was arrested with Fairbanks on a similar charge, was surrendered by his bondsmen. He will probably not be tried until the next term of court.

Doubt as to Money Market Being Pinched Before Currency Law Went Into Effect.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The market was practically relieved Thursday of all disturbing factors in the way of acute weakness of special stocks. Reports all continued favorable regarding the outlook for values, but the demand for stocks was almost unappreciable. Even the small buying for investment, based on large earnings for railroads which has been in evidence for some time past, dropped out of sight. Speculators are restraining entirely from commitments for the advance. On the other hand the bear operators of any considerable caliber seemed to become discouraged by the futility of their efforts and the culmination of events counted upon for a reaction.

The iron and steel stocks were generally firm on the encouraging opinions expressed by authorities in the trade. The published report of a proposed increase in the next dividend on the preferred stock of Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis was met by a drop in that stock of 3½ points. There was continued doubt and apprehension over the capacity of the money market to get through without a pinch to the period of relief by the operation of the currency bill. The possibility was canvassed of action by the treasury department to resume the deposit of internal revenue collections with the banks, but no authoritative sanction was given for such possibility. The absorption of funds by the New York sub-treasury since last Friday had already reached $5,621,000 up to the close of business Wednesday night. The total revenue surplus taken up by the government since the first of the month up to the same date amounted to only $2,066,245. The special drain thus indicated upon the New York banks is due to the large customs payments by importers. Imports at present are running very high as an incident of the active demand for commodities, and the payment of the duties is diverted from the New York banks into the sub-treasury.

The demand for loans for purchase of government bonds continues large. These two factors threaten the early obliteration of surplus reserves of the New York banks.

The bond market was not so active as Wednesday, but prices were firmly held. Total sales, par value, $1,590,000.

United States 3's declined ½ and the new 4's ½ in the bid price.

Chicago Grain Market.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Under the inspiration of cash wheat strength at Liverpool and New York, wheat futures on the board of trade Thursday were active and strong, May closing ¾c over Wednesday. May corn closed ½c up, helped by a good cash demand and May oats a shade higher. The provisions market closed strong, May pork 17½@20c, May lard 5@7½c and May ribs 7½@10c improved.

EVENTS BRIEFLY NARRATED

The Fifth cavalry, which has been in Porto Rico since the Spanish war, has been ordered home next week.

The directors of the St. Louis Transit company have promised to give an answer today to the demands of their dissatisfied employees.

The convention of the Amalgamated Woodworkers of America, in session at Grand Rapids, decided not to admit upholsters, varnishers and gilders.

Letters of administration on the estate of General Lawton were issued to the widow at Washington. The personal estate consists only of $1,000 back pay.

Chief of Police Ross and six other Democrats of Lexington, Ky., were arrested and released on bail, on charges of intimidating voters at the November election.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., March 9.—Philip Kuntz was convicted of manslaughter, in causing the death of Pierce W. Cope. During a fight Kuntz struck Cope on the head with a sledgehammer, the injury causing death. Motion was made for a new trial.

Phelps Slowly Sinking.

NEW HAVEN, March 9.—Ex-Minister Phelps was very weak and was gradually though not rapidly failing. The physicians held out no hope whatever for recovery.

Mausers and Lee-Enfields.

The chief distinction between the Mauser and the Lee-Enfield is this—that while the Lee-Enfield has a magazine which is inserted underneath the body through the trigger guard and secured by a catch and is provided with what is called a "cut off" to prevent the cartridges from rising, so that it can be used as a simple breechloader for single firing until the magazine, which contains ten cartridges, is ordered to be used, the Mauser has a magazine which, though not absolutely fixed, is only intended to be taken off for cleaning. It does not need a "cut off" to use as a single loader.

The magazine contains five cartridges, but whereas the cartridges for the Lee-Enfield have, when the magazine is charged, to be each put in separately, the magazine of the Mauser is filled at once by placing against the face of the magazine a set of five cartridges held in a clip which falls off when the cartridges have been inserted in the magazine.

Thus if each weapon were at the beginning of a fight empty, the Mauser would permit of more rapid fire because it could be loaded five cartridges at a time, while the Lee-Enfield would take, cartridge by cartridge, as long to load as a single breechloader. On the other hand, the times when a very rapid discharge of fire is desirable are not numerous, and for these the Lee-Enfield has ten cartridges ready against the Mauser's five.—Nineteenth Century.

Key, Kee, Kay.

Professor Skeat wishes to know when the pronunciation of key as kee can first be clearly detected. It occurs in Milton, "Comus," line 13:

To lay their just hands on that golden key
That opes the palace of eternity.

And a little later in Marvell's "Feleno."

Now as two instruments to the same key
Being tuned by art, if the one touched be,
The other opposite as soon replies.

These instances are curious, for both before and after this time the prevailing pronunciation was evidently key. Herbert rhymes the word with way. In "The Secrets of Angling" (1613) culverkeys is rhymed with rays. In Withers' "Mistress of Philarete" (1622), key with day. Dryden, too, and Swift have the same pronunciation, and not till I come to Green's "Spleen" (1737) do I, after an hour's search, find the other. There pleas rhymes with keys. This pronunciation must, however, have become common soon afterward.

In Duncombe's "Imitation of Gray's Elegy" it is rhymed with me, and Garlick rhymes it with flea, which would, I suppose, be pronounced then as it is now. Nares, in his "Elements of Orthoepy" (1764), says of the diphthong ey, "Its proper sound should be that of the long e. This, however, is given to it only in the word key, for ley—a field—is constantly written lea."—Notes and Queries.

More Sociable.

A lady who has recently returned from abroad had a curious experience at the little town of Dinant, in Belgium. She was traveling in a party of three, including another lady and a young man. They sought accommodation at a hotel and were shown a room in which there were three beds and on a deal table three basins and jugs about as big as slop basins and milk jugs.

The ladies explained that one room was quite insufficient for their needs, but it was a long time before they could get the hostess to understand why. They were then shown another room with three beds, three slop basins and three milk jugs and were told that they could have that, too, if they liked to pay for the six beds. It was therefore arranged that the man should have one room and three beds and the ladies the other room and three beds.

"Do you always sleep in threes?" said one lady to the hostess.

"Yes," was the reply; "it is much more sociable."—Madame.

Doubled Him Up.

A prominent western clergyman, W. W. White by name, was a member of a learned society in which there were several members who were fond of quibbling. During a speech he had been annoyed by their interruptions almost beyond the point of endurance. At last he said, "I trust I will not be troubled again until my speech is finished."

Before he could begin another sentence one of his chief tormentors arose and said, slowly and solemnly:

"Oh, doctor double-u, double-u, double-u, we love to trouble you, trouble you, trouble you."

The doctor sat down.

EPIDEMIC OF TYPHOID MALARIA.

Funerals Said to Have Averaged Four a Day, at Braddock, Pa.

PITTSBURG, March 9.—Malarial typhoid is epidemic in Braddock and vicinity. Some ascribe the causes to garbage and filth in the gutters and streets, to the many unpaved alleys and by-paths of the town, to the germ disturbance from the digging up of the thoroughfares, to the flushing out of saloons and stores between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon, when the greatest number of pedestrians is out, and to the water, which has become impregnated with poisonous microbes from sewage, rubbish pools and old cisterns or wells.

Doctors are overworked, typhoid and other fever cases of malarial accompaniment are plentiful and funerals, largely of patients who have succumbed to typhoid or its complications, are averaging four a day.

QUEEN'S VISIT TO LONDON.

Crowds Paid Her Loyal Tribute Enroute to Buckingham.

LONDON, March 9.—The queen's arrival in London and the commencement of her visit to the metropolis were marked by scenes of enthusiasm unparalleled since the jubilee celebration. Throughout the demonstrations there predominated a note of triumph, and the cheers that made the murky streets ring were almost as much in honor of the British victories in South Africa as they were vociferous tributes of a loyal people to a monarch whose womanly sympathy has been so strikingly shown since the war began.

When the train from Windsor arrived a tremendous cheer went up. Her majesty came down the sloping platform leaning on the arm of a turbaned Indian attendant and entered an open landau, in which also sat Princess Henry of Battenberg and Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein. They all wore black, and around her neck the queen had a sable cattarelle.

From the packed sidewalks and from every available window came a continuous roar of cheers, while hundreds of little flags were waved all the way to Buckingham palace.

Makeshift Wedding Rings.

Curious instances have been cited where makeshift substitutes for the conventional wedding ring have been utilized during the marriage ceremony. One such instance occurred some time ago in a nearby town, where the ring was missing. Nothing better being available as a substitute, a curtain ring was used, and on still another occasion the ring handle of the church key was utilized. A couple in this state used in such an emergency a ring formed from the outer edge of a coin and which had been carried by some one present as a curiosity.

A gallant best man came to the rescue at a recent wedding, when the ring was not forthcoming at the right time. He drew from his tie the slender stick pin that had been adorning it, and bending the wire into ring shape, handed the improvised wedding ring to the distracted groom.

A horseshoe nail bent to the shape of a ring is said to bring a great deal of luck to the owner, and the lead cramp ring worn six centuries ago has given place to various rings now worn to prevent and cure rheumatism.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The Polite Lie in Embryo.

A little child has given us a peep into the process by which the polite lie is developed. Mamma was talking to Effie about the absence of Edith from the children's party.

"You are sorry," said mamma, "that Edith could not come?"

Effie replied, having enjoyed herself, "Oh, I don't mind much."

To which mamma rejoined: "But Edith is ill. That is why she couldn't come. You must be sorry." Effie considered. "Yes; of course I'm sorry," she said, "but it doesn't hurt me—in side."—London Chronicle.

The Ruling Passion.

Wife (who has been out shopping all day)—Oh, dear, how tired and hungry I am!

Husband—Didn't you have any luncheon in town?

Wife—A plate of soup only. I didn't feel that I could afford to have more.

Husband—Did you find the hat you wanted?

Wife—Oh, yes. It is a perfect dream. John, and it only cost $28.—Collier's Weekly.

Too Much Time Wanted.

"If you will get my new suit done by Saturday," said a customer to a tailor, "I'll be forever indebted to you."

"If that's your game," replied the tailor, "the clothes will not be done at all."—Ohio State Journal.

To Fly in Your Dreams.

There is a peculiarity about the flying dream that seems to be constant. Of all those whom I asked about the matter and who are conscious of the flying dream at all not one has ever known himself to make any high flights in his dreams. One always flies low, with a skimming manner, slightly, but only slightly, above the heads of pedestrians.

And one's critical attitude in a dream toward one's own performance is always interesting to note, both in regard to this particular class of dream and even more toward one of the other classes. It is an attitude that is well brought out in "Alice in Wonderland," where Alice is made to exclaim or to think while she is falling, "How brave they will all think it of me at home not to mind a great fall like this!"—Longman's.

Logical.

"What is a furrier, Tommy?" asked the teacher of a pupil in the juvenile class.

"A man who deals in furs," answered Tommy.

"That's right," said the teacher. "Now, Tommy, you may tell me what currier is."

"A man who deals in currs," was the unexpected but logical reply.—Chicago News.

The Coldest Country.

The coldest inhabited country appears to be the province of Werchansk, in oriental Siberia. A Russian savant passed one entire year in the inhospitable region and kept a daily record of the temperature, from which it appears that the daily mean of the entire year is 2.74 degrees below zero.

The first constitutional convention in Ohio contained as delegates five men who afterward were elected governor of the state and four who became United States senators.

UNION LABELS

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

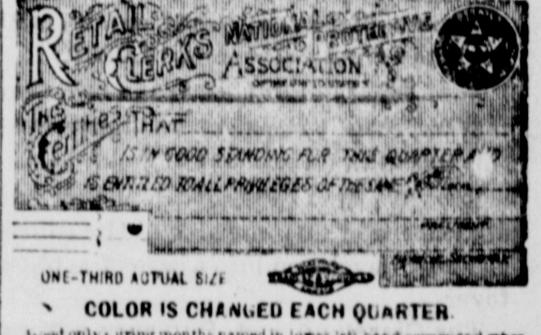

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

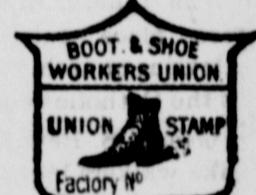

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card when making your purchases.

Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

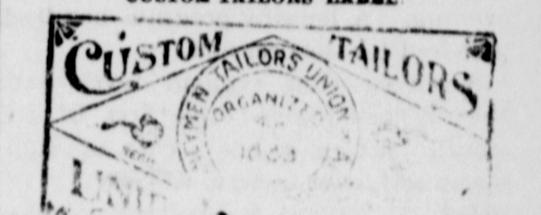

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILOR'S LABEL.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as you would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The label will be placed on the upper front side of the frame that receives the seat post.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' Union. It is printed on fine white paper and is passed on each loaf of union-made bread. It is an evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions. Following is the confectioners' and cracker label:
